SUPT. DEMMEL AROUSES IRE OF MACHINE

Recorder Brown Demands Explanation of Alleged Statements.

DETECTIVE DENIES PUBLISHED STORY

Angry Subordinates Say That Superintendent Is Inefficient One.

COUNCILS TO TAKE HAND

The admission credited to Supt. Philip Demmel of the detective bureau, before the salary revision committee of councils on Wednesday, have aroused the ire of the machine. Recorder Brown yesterday sent a letter to Demmel, in which he gave Demmel the lie and demanded proof.

Demmel made no secret of the fact that his administration was hampered by the demands of ring politicians and that he was compelled to do his work with inefficient men, whom he had no power to discharge. The detectives, on the other hand, assert that if anyone in the department is inefficient, it is Demmel himself.

The members of councils have determined to probe the matter to the bottom and Demmel will be called to substantiate his charges. In the meantime the howl of anger and dismay set up by the machine seems to have frightened the detective chief, and he shows signs of backing down in a feeble denial that he ever made the statements attributed to him.

Recorder Brown's letter reads:

Proof Is Demanded.

Pittsburgh, October 30, 1902.

Philip Demmel, Esq., Superintendent Bureau of Detectives.

Dear Sir—A morning paper quotes you as saying before the councilmanic committee the following:

"Politics is responsible for the demoralization of the detective force. I cannot pick my men, but have to take what material is sent me. For the same reason I can't even discipline them. We must have a different method before the detective bureau will be really efficient. The fault lies with the method of appointment in vogue. A man responsible for people under him should be allowed to choose them. But I am not only powerless to choose—I can't even dismiss men who are incompetent."

If you are properly quoted you said to the committee what you know to be absolutely untrue. On the day of your appointment I consulted with you in reference to your detectives and you said that you were satisfied with them. Every appointment that has been made has been with your approval, and you have frequently told me that you were satisfied with your men and that you were doing good work. If there has been a lax of discipline in your bureau you have never reported it, and I have never had a case before me from your bureau since you have been in charge. I have always told you that you must have a free hand in suppressing crime, and that you were required to make complaint in case of incompetency whenever such occurred.

Report Is Requested.

I now ask you to make me immediately a written report as to your opinion of the efficiency and worth of every man employed in your bureau, and I pledge you, as I did upon your taking charge of the bureau, that every man that you certify as being incompetent will be removed promptly. And I will approve your naming the men to fill the vacancies irrespective of politics, religion or color. If your bureau is inefficient I want you to step to the front and make it efficient and I will approve your appointments.

You are required to furnish the aforesaid report by next Saturday noon, in writing.

Very truly yours,
J. O. Brown,
City Recorder.

Supt. Demmel last night admitted that he had received the letter. He said that he would make a personal call on the recorder this morning and make a specific denial of the statements attributed to him.

He said he had no intention of resigning, and as Recorder Brown requested him to make a written report of the efficiency and competency of every man on his force, he would only be too glad to do so.

Repudiates Statements.

Demmel said: "The story as published in a Pittsburgh newspaper yesterday morning is absolutely without truth or foundation. I did not say that politics is responsible for the demoralization of the detective force. I deny that I said that I could not pick my own men. I deny that I said the men on my force could not be disciplined by me."

"Is your force competent and efficient, superintendent?" was asked me by the committee yesterday afternoon and to this question I answered:

"Not wholly."

"I was asked if I could get good men for the salaries, and said I did not know how to answer that question, as I do not employ the men. I said that as the system for getting men at present and in the past has been by political appointment, you cannot always have a satisfactory force."

The detectives were indignant yesterday when they read of the testimony their chief had given. One detective said yesterday that Demmel showed favoritism among the detectives of his bureau. Owing to this and flagrant mistakes on the part of Supt. Demmel, the officers of that bureau have been unable to accomplish satisfactory results. Some of the detectives have not been given an assignment in months.

Another of the front office men said: "Supt. Demmel has no one to blame but himself. Many of us have had more experience than he has. His experience is limited. When he was an operative under Roger O'Mara, he was not considered exceptionally efficient."

QUAY PREDICTS NEARLY 200,000

Two-Thirds Majority in the Legislature by a Joint Ballot.

GAINS IN CONGRESS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 30.

"The Republican victory in Pennsylvania next Tuesday will be sweeping and complete."

Senator Quay, chairman of the Republican state committee, made this prediction to The Gazette correspondent tonight. It is the first announcement from the head of the party organization since the campaign reached a stage where the scope of probable success could be determined. His opinion is based upon comprehensive and reliable reports furnished by the respective county chairmen and personal analyses made by himself.

When asked tonight to give The Gazette his opinion on probable result of Tuesday's election Chairman Quay said: "Judge Pennypacker will carry the state by a majority of from 150,000 to 200,000 and, in my opinion, the last figures are close to what the actual count will show.

"We will make good congressional gains. The Democratic representation from Pennsylvania now in congress is four. I concede but one member this time. In the other three districts there is a stiff fight, and my advices are that the Republican candidates will be elected.

"The legislative situation justifies the prediction that the Republicans will organize both branches and have two-thirds majority on joint ballot."

Col. Quay declined to say which congressional district he concedes the Democrats, but it is safe to assume that he referred to the Berks-Lehigh district, which has always been a rock-ribbed supporter of Democracy. But there is a doubt even there, in the present contest, "Corporal" William Sowden, who served in congress during Cleveland's second term, having forsaken the Democratic party and accepted a Republican nomination. He says he will win.

The other congressional districts now represented by Democrats, which Republicans hope to win this time, are the York-Adams, Northampton and Northumberland districts.

R. R. Quay joined his father here today. He will return to Pittsburgh in the morning.

The senator's plans for election day are not entirely settled. Probably he will go to Beaver Sunday. He will spend Monday in Pittsburgh, vote early Tuesday morning and, if possible, catch the 8 o'clock train at Pittsburgh to get back to Philadelphia and receive election returns here.

It is probable that he will go to San Lucie, Fla., about the end of next week.

William M. Brown, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, was taken suddenly ill here this morning and was unable to accompany the gubernatorial party to Reading. Mr. Brown caught a severe cold last night at Norristown. It is not probable that he will again appear on the stump. He will go to his home in New Castle tomorrow, if his condition improves.

JEALOUS WIFE SHOT TO KILL HER RIVAL

A Sensational Affray in the Crowded Streets of Youngstown.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Carrie Connor, wife of former City Councilman John J. Connor, tonight met Miss Mattie Burts on the street, where hundreds of people were passing, and deliberately shot her, the bullet from a 32-caliber revolver plowing through her chin. Before she could fire a second time, Patrolman Parks, who was passing on a car, reached Mrs. Connor, and securing the revolver, placed her under arrest. She soon secured bail. The victim was removed to the hospital and may recover.

Miss Burts is an attractive blonde, 25 years old, and her home is at Saginaw, Mich. Five years ago she came here and opened a disorderly house. The house was raided two years ago, and she left the city. Recently she returned here. Mrs. Connor, being informed that Miss Burts was friendly with her husband, lay in wait for the woman and shot her as she appeared in the street. She had threatened to kill both her husband and Miss Burts if she caught them together.

Connor is worth $150,000, largely invested in real estate. Until a few weeks ago he was very industrious.

BAD MINNEAPOLIS FIRE

Fire Company Captain Perhaps Fatally Injured and Others Hurt—Loss $250,000

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—Six firemen were injured during the night at a fire which caused a damage estimated at $250,000. The six-story buildings occupied by the Minneapolis Paper Company and owned by J. C. Oswald & Co. was destroyed. The stock of the paper company was consumed.

Capt. George Smith was leading a squad of men up a ladder on an adjoining structure when the ladder broke, precipitating six men to the ground. Capt. Smith suffered internal injuries that may prove fatal. Firemen George Cheney and Frank Hessik also were badly hurt. The three other firemen were able to reach the city hospital without assistance.

WHEN FRIVOLITY RULES.

CUNNINGHAM OUT OF THE CONTEST

He Withdraws and Beaver County Committee Is Out for Acheson.

LOCAL RING BEATEN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beaver, Pa., Oct. 30.—James H. Cunningham before the county committee today withdrew as a candidate for congress from the Twenty-fourth district, in opposition to Congressman Acheson, and the Beaver county combination, of which he was the leader, was completely overthrown. By the action of the stalwart Republicans of the county, who were counted out by the ring at the primaries, the congressional muddle in this district has been adjusted and Acheson's election assured.

The stalwarts' victory was overwhelming. The meeting was held in the court house this afternoon.

Before the committee met a caucus fas held by the regular Republicans in the district attorney's office. It was announced by Charles H. Stone, who presided, that the purpose of the caucus was to oppose the indorsement of Cunningham. The roll call showed 80 per cent of the committee present. A plan of action, that of fighting every unjust overture of the ring, was outlined and followed out in detail later.

Hard Blow to Cunningham.

The committee met at 2 o'clock without a member absent. Chairman H. P. Brown in his opening remarks said Cunningham would make an address on a question of privilege. It was argued by Mr. Stone that such an address would be out of order, and urged that the rules which prescribe a mode of procedure, and which had been of Cunningham's own making, be followed.

The chair ruled Cunningham in order, and an appeal was taken from the decision. With it came the first test vote. The appeal was carried by an overwhelming majority.

Frank Reed, Acheson's attorney, then suggested that Cunningham be allowed to talk for 10 minutes. This was agreed to.

Cunninham, seeing defeat and political death staring him in the face, then withdrew as a congressional candidate. He attempted to cover his withdrawal with glory by alleging that he had received letters from Chairmen Babcock of the national congressional committee, Hill of the national executive committee and Quay of the state committee, urging his withdrawal to prevent the possible election of a Democrat and a Democratic congress. He said his withdrawal was in the interests of party harmony.

Acheson Indorsed.

Resolutions were immediately offered indorsing Acheson. They were carried by a unanimous vote.

Routine work was then proceeded with, the stalwarts winning at every turn, until, scenting danger, Chairman Brown called to the secretary to move that the convention adjourn. The motion was put aside for a moment by a call of Edwin S. Weyand for three cheers for the full Republican ticket, including the Hon. Ernest F. Acheson. The cheers were given uproariously and the meeting adjourned.

While the meeting was largely anti-Cunningham, and forced upon him the recognition of his own rules, there was at the close a feeling of harmony that, it is said, will insure a large Republican majority.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The announcement that Cunningham had withdrawn was received here this evening with considerable surprise by Republicans. The fact remains that Achison's name is not in the Republican column, but in the regular column, and that Cunningham's name will appear on the ballot regardless of his withdrawal.

Woman Guilty of Murder.

WEST CHESTER, PA., Oct. 30.—Marie H. Romano, a young Italian woman of Avondale, near here, was today convicted of murder in the second degree for killing Michael Imperaeli. The woman claimed Imperaeli had slandered her, and she stabbed him with a stiletto. Counsel agreed on a second degree verdict.

SHARON OPERA HOUSE RUINED BY FLAMES

Interior Entirely Destroyed and Loss Heavy—Merchants in Building Suffer.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHARON, PA., Oct. 31.—The interior of the Sharon opera house, in West State street, was completely ruined by fire early this morning.

The fire started about 12:30 a. m. and was discovered by young people returning from a party near the scene. They noticed smoke issuing from the second balcony and quickly turned in an alarm. By the time the fire department responded, the house was a mass of roaring flame. It was gotten under control, however, the strong thick walls helping to isolate the fire to the opera house alone.

Beneath the opera house were a shoe store, Steele's drug store and a merchant tailor's establishment.

I. Morgan, one of the owners of the opera house, which was valued at about $85,000, stated that they had only about $15,000 insurance on the building, which was totally wrecked. Steele, owning the drug store, was insured for $2,500. Albert Brady, a jeweler in Steele's drug store, was a heavy loser.

FRICK AND MELLONS AT ELK CREEK HARBOR

May Be Figuring to Link Terminals With Erie & Pittsburgh Road.

Henry C. Frick, Andrew W. and Robert B. Mellon spent yesterday in an inspection of the Elk Creek harbor, just west of Erie, which was recently bought by these interests, ostensibly as an investment. Likelihood of the Pennsylvania railroad interests co-operating with the Mellons to make this harbor the lake terminal of their Erie & Pittsburgh division, which now terminates at Girard, Pa., traffic going into Erie over the Lake Shore, led to a report that the trip was to develop an important conference with President Cassatt and other Pennsylvania officials. Such a conference did not take place, Mr. Cassatt's party having gone to Buffalo before the Pittsburghers reached Erie.

"We had a very pleasant trip up the country today; more than that I do not care to say," was the answer Mr. Frick gave last evening at the Union station, as he came away from the Erie express, accompanied by the Messrs. Mellon.

Nearly two weeks ago A. W. and R. B. Mellon purchased 2,500 acres of land and the Lake Erie Terminal Railroad Company charter and franchise rights at the mouth of Elk creek, near Girard. The Mellons have heretofore disclaimed any purpose to make the harbor site the lake terminal for the Union Steel Company, which has recently acquired two great modern freighters plying on the lakes and owns its own ore property in the northwest.

WILL DEVELOP 22,000 ACRES

Syndicate of Ten Invests $1,5000,00 in Pittsburgh Seam Coal.

WABASH SPUR TO IT

Ten well-known members of this community have formed an independent coal concern, which will operate in a tract of 22,000 acres of Pittsburgh seam coal in Washington county, this state, and the panhandle of West Virginia.

Purchases of coal land have been going on for two years, and with the delivery of deeds for about 600 acres in a day or two, the company, known as the Pittsburgh Vein Coal Company, will own in fee simple an entire body of coal costing about $1,500,000.

The ownership of the property rests with the following directors: Samuel C. Grier, of Hoag & Grier, former delinquent tax collector in Allegheny, president; John F. Steel, vice president of the Columbia National bank, secretary and treasurer; Henry Buhl, Jr., of Boggs & Buhl; William Witherow, proprietor of the Hotel Duquesne; Samuel Dempster, druggist and son of Alexander Dempster, the veteran coal operator; John M. Anderson, a broker; Samuel P. Connor, collector of delinquent taxes in Allegheny county; E. P. Remington, head of the Remington advertising agency; Joseph Hastings, contractor, and J. N. Davidson, president of the Second National bank of Allegheny.

This directorate in a few days will determine on the capitalization. This will be held down to the cost of the property, the improvements for its development, and some working capital.

The syndicate will take up all the stock and its issue in this way will avoid overcapitalization. Possibly the stock issue will be limited to $3,000,000. There will be no bonded debt.

Arrangements are to be made to open at once three large mines and to equip them for a production of about 4,000 tons a day, the output to be increased as the development goes on.

The property to be developed lies along the western border of Pennsylvania, in Washington county, and extends through Ohio county, up into Brooke county and down into Marshall county, in West Virginia. For a distance of five miles the Wheeling division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad penetrates the field, and for one mile the Wheeling division of the Panhandle cuts through the property. Along the Ohio river the coal body extends for a mile.

To near Wellsburg, in Brooke county, the Wabash has arranged to extend a branch from its new Pittsburgh connection. Another new railroad, at the head of which is Col. Josiah G. Thompson of Uniontown, which will be known as the Uniontown & Wheeling railroad, will also penetrate the propety. Arrangements have been made to enter the lake trade by means of the branch of the Wabash which will link directy with the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad.

N. F. Sanford, formerly with the Moon Run Coal Company, will be general manager for the new company. The Pittsburgh Vein Coal Company was chartered in Pennsylvania nealy two years ago.

CANDIDATE KILLED.

Nicholas Noon, a Democratic Nominee for Assembly, Run Down by a Train in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Nicholas Noon, Democratic candidate for legislature in the Twenty-second district, was instantly killed this afternoon by a train.

Mr. Noon sent his son, 6 years old, to state headquarters to get campaign literature, with a note to the secretary to see that the lad got on the right street car when he started home. The boy performed his errand, but when he reached home his father's body was just being carried into the house.

The deceased was a brakeman.

NO POINT MISSED BY ARBITRATORS

Commissioners Make a Complete Inspection of Mine.

LONG TIME BELOW

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 30.—The seven commissioners appointed by President Roosevelt to adjust the anthracite mine differences today made a tour of the extreme upper coal field and saw every step taken in the production of coal, from the time it is blasted from the ground to the point where it is sent to market. They returned to their hotel tonight, grimy from coal dust and tired after eight busy hours of observation and investigation.

They had to endure many discomforts, make their way through wet places in the mines, almost crawl along some of the gangways and pass through clouds of coal dust in the breakers. Notwithstanding this, their eagerness for information was not diminished.

Go Down in Mine.

Today's tour consisted of an inspection of No. 2 mine of the Hillsdale Coal and Iron Company, operated by the Erie Company, and the Colebrook breaker of the D. & H. Company. The former is located at Forest City and the breaker at Carbondale. A short drive was taken through Forest City to give the commissioners an opportunity to view the homes of the mine workers.

After the party had been rigged out and provided with miners' lamps the descent of the 160-foot shaft was made. The hospital at that point was inspected and then the commissioners got into a train of mine cars and were hauled about a mile and a half under ground to what is known as a thin vein of coal, where they saw miners fire a blast.

Fatal Accident Close By.

The thin vein runs into the Clifford mine, adjoining the No. 2 in the Clifford, a few hours before the commissioners arrived, a Hungarian was killed almost instantly by the falling of a portion of the roof. He was doubled up and his lamp falling to go out, set fire to his clothes, almost roasting him alive. The arbitrators were not informed of the accident.

The vein was explained to the commissioners, who asked many questions of the miners. From there they returned to the main gangway and inspected an average vein, six or eight feet thick. The party reached the surface at 2:10 o'clock, after being under ground for two hours and 10 minutes.

The arbitrators had an interesting time at the Colebrook breaker. They went to the top of the great black building and inspected all the machinery down to the ground. From the breaker the now tired commissioners were escorted to the chute, where the coal, fresh from the mine, is sent to the breaker by means of a "conveyor," an endless chain arrangement of scrapers.

Point in Controversy.

It is here where one of the principal bones of contention between the employe and employer is found. The miners maintain they are often unjustly docked by the docking bosses for the amount of refuse in the coal. The commissioners watched the work of the boss closely and saw him dock several miners because there was too much foreign matter.

After the arbitrators had watched the weighing of coal for a while, Mr. Clark inquired how many pounds constituted a ton at this colliery. Supt. Bryden thought it was about 2,800, but District President Nicholls said it was a little over 3,100 pounds. The two began to discuss the question, each maintaining he was right.

Mr. Nicholls said when the companies fixed 2,800 pounds to constitute a ton so as to get out of it 2,000 pounds of pure coal, the operators did not sell pea coal in the market. Now they have a market for pea coal and about three other sizes below it and the miner's ton of 2,800 pounds has not been decreased.

President Mitchell came up from Wilkesbarre tonight, accompanied by Clarence S. Darrow of Chicago, who has been appointed by Mr. Mitchell attorney to represent the miners before the arbitration commission.

ART TREASURES TO PAWN.

Artist Whose Name Is Withheld Asks $50,000 on Collection Alleged to Be Worth $2,000,000.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Locked in a steel vault in this city are paintings by old masters valued at $2,000,000, which the owner is willing to pawn for $50,000. Two, said to be by Raphael, have been offered to J. P. Morgan for $500,000, and if he decides to purchase them the offer to pledge the canvases will be withdrawn.

This was the announcement made today by Albert Krimmert, a banker, who says he is acting for the owner in trying to sell or pawn them.

There are about 50 paintings in the collection, Mr. Krimmert says. The owner is an artist and comes of a long line of painters, and the collection was gathered by him and his ancestors during 200 years.

STOCKYARDS TO COMBINE AFTER BEEF

Completion of the Meat Trust Only Waits for Easy Money Market

SAME INTERESTS IN BOTH DEALS

Swift Likely to Be President and Armour Chairman of Directors.

CAPITAL NOT YET FIXED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Consolidation of all the stockyards in the country is contemplated by leading interests in those properties. The plan probably will be carried out after the completion of the deal to merge the beef packing industries.

It is announced by leading interests that the union of the Armour, Swift, Morris and other beef packing concerns will be completed by the end of the year, or early in 1903. The underwriting agreements are said to have been signed already with the idea of announcing the combination as soon as the money market is strong enough to float the stock. There are widely different reports as to the amount of stock the combination will have, the figures running from $30,000,000 to $500,000,000. It is understood that the preferred stock will represent the book value of the various properties, and the common the good will and other intangible assets.

Parties to the Beef Combine.

The consolidation will include Armour, Swift and Morris and other properties in Chicago, and, of course, the Hammond and Anglo-American in Omaha, and other packing properties they have purchased to put into the deal, besides the Cudahy and Schwartzschild & Sulzberger companies.

It is probable that Gustavus F. Swift will be president, and J. Ogden Armour chairman of the board of directors. It is understood that P. A. Valentine will represent the company in New York in a financial way, as he now represents Armour & Co.

It was reported that the recent delay in the negotiations was due partly to the desire of the Armours to retain the Armour name in the company and the refusal of other interests to accept it. Practically, official information is that the Armour name was never considered for the consolidated company.

The consolidation of the various stockyards companies could be effected with comparative ease after the consolidation of the beef packing interests. With the exception of the Chicago stock yards, which are controlled in Boston, all the properties involved are owned and controlled by the owners of the principal beef packing plants.

Stockyards in the Deal.

The different yards that will probably be included in the deal, aside from the Chicago yards, are those at Kansas City, East St. Louis, St. Joseph, Ft. Worth, South Omaha and Sioux City. The Armour interest is probably the largest in the Kansas City yards; the Armours, Swift and Morris control the East St. Louis yard; the Swifts own the St. Joseph yards; the Armours and Swifts own the Ft. Worth yards; the Armours, Swifts and Cudays control the Omaha yards, and the Swifts control at Sioux City.

While the control of the Chicago yards is held in Boston, Chicago packers also have large holdings of the stock, and their recommendations, undoubtedly, would have great weight with the eastern crowd. With these yards consolidated and the packing industry all under one head, the packers could practically control the beef market from start to finish.

The plan for consolidating the various stock yards has not progressed as yet to a point where the amount of stock required has been more than discussed. Undoubtedly it would run close up to $100,000,000.

SCHWAB WON'T RESIGN.

That Is the Emphatic Statement of a Member of the J. P. Morgan Firm in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Reports of the coming retirement of President Schwab of the United States Steel Corporation were current again today. A member of the J. P. Morgan firm was asked about the matter and replied:

"There is absolutely nothing to justify such rumors. Mr. Schwab is not going to resign. Mr. Schwab is in Europe, and I cannot see why he should not be permitted to enjoy his trip as he pleases. It is nobody's business whether he stops at the most expensive hotels or takes long automobile trips, so long as he pays for them."

PITTSBURGHERS IN IT.

Great Shipbuilding Plant to Be Constructed Near Detroit—Capital to Be $5,000,000.

DETROIT, Oct. 30.—The Great Lakes Engineering Company of Detroit is to build a large shipbuilding plant on the river Rouge, about two miles outside the city.

One gentleman connected with the enterprise said the report was correct. He also said that J. D. Hawks, George H. Russell, the Great Lakes Engineering Company of Detroit and some Pittsburgh capitalists are interested.

"The capital of the company has not yet been settled upon," he said, "but I believe it will be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000."

AXES AND CLUBS ON ELECTION DAY

That's What Dr. Barchfeld Advises Ring Election Officers to Use.

MACHINE'S DESPERATION

City Committee Holds a Meeting and Denounces Citizens Party for Same Crimes Machine Has Been Denounced For.

"My advice to the Repuclican election overseers is to go to the polls with an ax, and if you are refused a peep into the ballot box, smash it to pieces. My advice to every Republican watcher at the polls is to take a baseball bat with him and use it, if necessary, on the thugs and thieves of the Citizens party. If the Republican party, in control of the city of Pittsburgh and the city of Allegheny and of the county jail, cannot carry this election against fraud, then it ought to be robbed of it."

That was the keynote to the proceedings of the machine's city committee last night. Rendered desperate by the certainty of defeat, the machine has determined, judging from the quotation above, to use drastic measures. The advice was given by Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, machine candidate for congress, and when the good-natured doctor, who ordinarily would not hurt a fly, begins to talk of the clubs and axes to be used at the polls, citizens generally know that things must be in a desperate state.

The meeting of the city committee was held in the machine auditorium in Sixth avenue, and Recorder Brown, chairman of the committee, presided.

How Barchfeld Was Worked Up.

Dr. Barchfeld was gradually worked up to his violent frame of mind as he heard Chairman Brown tell how the Citizens party intended to carry the election by the use of money; that the Citizens party had spent $200,000 at the election in February; that a man had received $2,000 to carry the Eighth ward, and another $300 to distribute in his immediate neighborhood; that the opponents of the "Republican" party expected to buy enough votes to insure victory.

Without cracking a smile, Chairman Brown said the Stone-Flinn organization stood for party "purity." He had never seen such an abuse of money. When Chairman Brown said he had heard that a gang of ballot box stuffers and repeaters had been brought in, it was enough to excite men like Dr. Barchfeld, who did not know that Allegheny is filled with repeaters, who will try to vote the machine ticket on election day, and that the scarcity of machine money is due to the unwillingness of the pay roll to put up any more.

All Kinds of Rewards Offered.

Brown urged the overseers to work the old gag about fraudulent tax receipts. Attorney John P. Hunter gave his version of the law on elections, and gave advice the drift of which is told in another column. Jacob Minsinger offered a resolution declaring that thugs and thieves had been imported here from other cities to act as repeaters, and that the machine, therefore, offer a reward of $20,000, to be paid in sums of $500, for the arrest and conviction of illegal voters, and that the county commissioners ought to offer a reward. Of course the resolution was adopted.

John B. Barbour read a resolution to the effect that the city committee offer a reward of $20,000, payable in sums of $500, for the arrest and conviction of each and every person who votes or attempts to vote on a fraudulent tax receipt. This is much more than the Citizens party offered last February, but even the amount then offered sufficed to prevent the machine from using the repeaters it had imported.

By this time Dr. Barchfeld was properly worked up, and he began. In the course of his speech he used the words already quoted, and spoke excitedly of alleged repeaters that the Citizens party had brought in. Archibald Mackrell and George M. von Bonnhorst also spoke.

The meeting adjourned after deciding that all ward committees shall meet on next Monday night for the distribution of poll books and conference with the watchers.

Mystery About Informations.

Informations charging 24 persons with having "exhibited, uttered, published and made" fraudulent tax receipts, voted on at the February election, were made yesterday before Alderman McMasters by W. A. Brown. The names were not given out. It was said that no warrants would be served last night, although they were made out.

The information recites that the defendant, naming him, on February 3, at the municipal election, voted on a false tax receipt, or distributed false receipts. The informations were made on information and belief. The men were named. Alderman McMasters said, in the report of Pier Dannals, master in the contested election case of J. E. Wainwright against John A. Upperman, in the Fifteenth ward. Councilman Upperman was in the magistrate's office when the informations were made.

Orders were quietly sent out by the machine last night to line up the white wings in the best way to defeat the Republican state candidates, and the command was given to the white wings to vote the Ballot Reform ticket. The white wings in the East Liberty district told their friends last night that these orders had been issued.

REDMOND APPROVES.

Augustus St. Gaudens Shows Drawing of Parnell Statue—To Be Finished in Three Years.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Augustus St. Gaudens had a conference with John E. Redmond, M. P., today with reference to the Parnell monument, which is to be erected in Dublin. Mr. St. Gaudens has been engaged upon the model of the monument for nearly two years and the model is now complete. He submitted the drawings of it to Mr. Redmond, who approved of them.

The design is a pyramid of 40 to 50 feet in height, composed of green Connemarble with a colossal statue of Parnell at the base, standing by a table over which is thrown a large Irish flag. The pyramid is to represent Ireland. The four sides will contain symbols set into the marble in gold, expressive of the four provinces of Ireland. Around the base of the pyramid the names of the 32 counties will be inserted.

The figure of Parnell will be in bronze. The cost of the monument will be $52,000, and under the contract it is to be delivered in Dublin within three years.

ALL STILL AWAITING COLOMBIA'S DECISION

Meanwhile Uncle Sam's Canal Thoughts Turn More Than Ever to Nicaragua.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 602 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.

Colombia is playing for time in the canal negotiations. Minister Concha, who insists he is acting on his own discretion, has gained a few days; but he has also gained the resentment of the state department, and has caused the administration to turn its canal thought Nicaraguawards.

Secretary Hay's protest to the Colombian government that Minister Concha had failed to act on instructions received from his government, apparently has yet borne no fruit. Nothing has been received from Minister Hart at Bogota. Indeed, it was stated that the legation hardly expected a reply before Monday.

If Minister Concha is delaying the negotiations on his own responsibility, he is guided by the fate of his predecessor, Dr. Silva, who adhered closely to written instructions which were ill-fitted to conditions which had arisen between the time they were mailed and their receipt. For this Dr. Silva was recalled.

Much of the delay has been caused by the attitude of Gov. Salazer of Panama, who has been writing numerous letters to the legation here, and these more or less influenced Mr. Concha in postponing action on his instructions.

PAID DEAR FOR A MAN.

Lady Violet Beauchamp Condemned by London Court to Pay Mrs. Watt $25,000 Damages.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—(Copyright Cable.)—The sensational libel suit brought by Mrs. Julia Watt against Lady Violet Beauchamp ended today by the plaintiff being awarded $25,000 damages.

When the court opened an immense crowd besieged the entrance. Well dressed men and women struggled and fought for places.

Lady Violet Beauchamp, in a striking toilet of crimson, sat by the side of the man whose mind she was accused of poisoning.

Counsel for defendant made objection to the plaintiff's counsel's reference to Lady Violet's character, by saying Lady Violet herself, in answer to her husband's petition for divorce, had said she had frequently been indiscreet with her husband's associates.

The line of defense was that Mrs. Watt could only claim for damages actually done by certain words complained of. Plaintiff's counsel, it was contended, had fought the case on a false issue, that of the alienation of a husband by Lady Violet Beauchamp. The jury thought otherwise and awarded heavy damages.

Its decision will be final on the entire question of the right of the majority stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation to carry into effect the bond conversion plan.

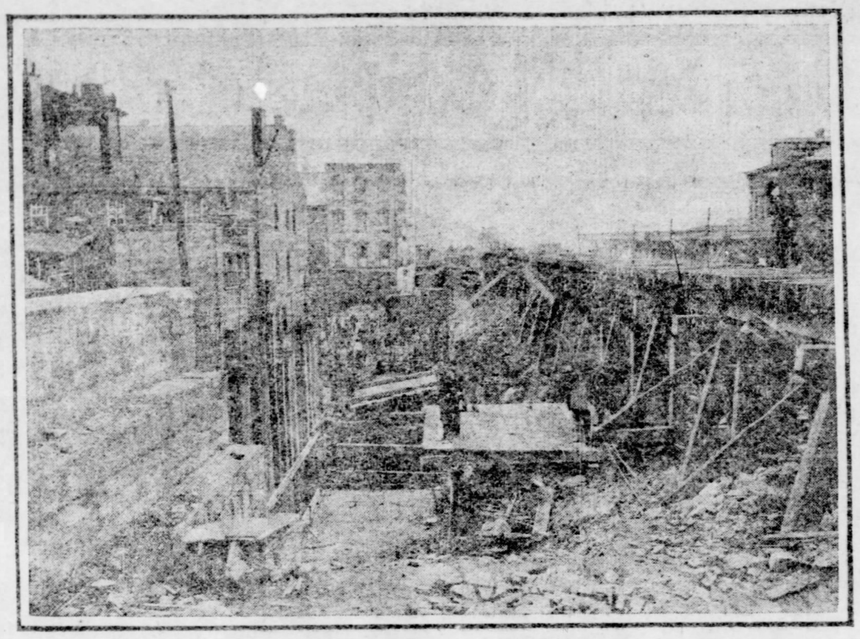
MARKED CHANGES BEING MADE DAILY IN APPEARANCE OF THINGS IN ALLEGHENY.



(Photographed by The Gazette Staff Artist.)

In the above illustration some idea may be had of the extent of the great railroad work now going on in Allegheny—the elevation of the Ft. Wayne tracks. The view is at Sandusky street, looking toward Federal, over what was formerly the site of the West Penn station. To the right a part of the present Ft. Wayne station and its train sheds are seen. In the foreground at the left is a section of the massive cement retaining walls being constructed.

The work is being pushed rapidly and scarcely a day passes but some marked change is made in the former appearance of things.

GEN. WILEY AND STAFF TO BE HERE SUNDAY

Second Brigade Headquarters at Ashland Are to Be Closed.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHENANDOAH, PA., Oct. 30.—Sergeant Goss of the Sixteenth regiment was almost smothered in his tent at Mt. Carmel early this morning. He retired late last night, and owing to the cold weather let an oil stove burn. The wick blazed too high during the night and smoked so much that the sergeant's face was blackened and he was rendered unconscious. He soon revived, however, and is now considered out of danger.

A soldier of the Sixteenth located here told how he and his two bunkies got up at 5 o'clock this morning and ran around the race track to revive their lagging circulation.

Gen. Wiley and staff of the Second brigade will leave Ashland for home Saturday at noon, and expect to reach Pittsburgh Sunday morning.

While playing soldiers, Lottie, the 15-year-old daughter of Joseph Ball, shoe dealer, commanded her company, composed of cousins, to fire. George Brobst, her younger cousin, leveled a flobert rifle at her and pulled the trigger. The result was that Lottie was shot in the left thigh. The ball was extracted. George "did not know it was loaded."

Trouble is brewing here because of discrimination by the mine foremen, who threaten to discharge fire bosses at Indian Ridge colliery to make room for the promotion of non-union men who worked during the strike. Another strike is probable.

SEIBERT SEES SIGNS.

Supposed Organization Supporter Predicts the Success of the Citizens Movement Next Tuesday.

Elmer E. Seibert, who was appointed superintendent of Highland park by Director McCandless, stated yesterday that he believed the Citizens county ticket would win next Tuesday.

"There is not a ghost of a show for the organization ticket to win this time," he declared. "The Citizens ticket will win, hands down, from top to bottom. I am for H. Kirke Porter, open and above board, and I have $1,000 to bet against $600 that he will win for congress. The fact that I was appointed under the organization does not mean that I have sold my birthright."

Thompson's conduct of the office and compared his administration with former administrations. Col. Thompson objects to Dr. Evans' use of the words "back salary" and denies that under the former controller, James A. Grier, the funds of the county were more economically administered; that the sheriff's office was run cheaper, or that the prothonotary was more saving. Col. Thompson writes that even if these county officers are extravagant he must audit their accounts and approve them if expenditures are legally contracted for.

TELLS OF CONSPIRACY THAT ENDED TWO LIVES

Luke Wheeler Makes Sensational Confession in Chicago Masonic Temple Case.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—To State Attorney Deneen and his uncle, Police Inspector Wheeler, Luke Wheeler, the convicted tax fixer, has revealed in all its ramifications the gigantic plot that collapsed with the discovery of the Masonic temple tax frauds.

Unless the present program shall be changed, Wheeler will go before the grand jury tomorrow and in a formal declaration under oath reiterate the statements made to the prosecutor.

Wheeler's confession places him in a new light, and if accepted literally, removes from him the stigma of the charge of building up a defense with the tombstones of the dead. The conspiracy, or, rather, the series of conspiracies, drove two men to suicide, according to the confession.

According to Wheeler, the Masonic temple fraud was merely incidental to an extensive series of operations, reaching back into the past and made possible through lax methods, coupled with a desire on the part of responsible prominent business houses to evade taxation.

According to Wheeler's declaration, the promissory notes he was placed on trial for forgery were from side and legitimate paper. He said that a public official at Springfield sought to blackmail the clique, threatened exposure and prosecution against one in particular and worried him into ending his life. The second suicide involved in the case was due, Wheeler says, to fear that the fugitive (Wheeler) would confess when he was brought back from Canada.

CASHIER ARRESTED.

His Company Charges Embezzlement, But He Says He Merely Lent Insurance Money to Agents.

The arrest was made on complaint of Joseph Rowes, cashier of the Baltimore branch. Griffiths said of the accusation tonight:

"It wasn't really an embezzlement. I lent the money to agents of the company who needed funds. They went back on me and did not make good when they said they would. Everything will be straightened out, and I suppose the matter had been settled when I was arrested."

JOHNSON STICKS TO CONFESSION

Again Tells a Circumstantial Story of the Murder of Albert C. Latimer.

SENT BACK TO JAIL

Justice Does Not Believe Story, but Holds Him for Further Examination—Victim's Wife Denies That She Knew Walsh.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—William C. Johnson's renewed statement that he killed Albert C. Latimer only served to baffle his hearers and deepen the mystery ytoday.

Arraigned before Magistrate Furlong, Johnson announced that he wanted to plead guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree. Magistrate Furlong, after hearing his story, expressed the belief that there was no truth in his tale. Yet he committed the prisoner for further examination on November 7 without bail.

After being lodged in the Raymond street jail, Johnson again made a complete confession. He recognized the weak points in what he told, saying that he was giving the details as he remembered them, and that if they did not agree with what was already known, he could not help it.

"I killed Albert Latimer," he said; "I have given myself up, and I make this confession, not to ease my conscience, but because I was driven to it by the fact that I could not sleep. I am not sorry that I killed this man, though I had no malice against him. I cannot quite explain my feelings."

Johnson says Mrs. Latimer was friendly with his pal, a thief named John Walsh; and concludes his remarkable statement as follows:

"Not long after I took my place in that closet I heard Walsh and Mrs. Latimer coming up the stairs together. She said to him: 'Are you sure he went away?' I suppose she referred to me. Walsh replied that he had let me out of the house himself.

"They talked in low tones for a few minutes, and then I gained the idea that Mrs. Latimer went down stairs, and that Walsh found a hiding place for himself. I went to sleep, and the next thing I knew Mrs. Latimer was telling her husband that there was a burglar in the room. He said he did not think so, but he got out of bed and I heard him coming in my direction.

"I thought that I had been betrayed and when he opened the door of the closet, I stepped out and shot. They tell me that he was shot twice, and not in the back. Still I tell you the story as I remember it.

"As I fled down the stairs I heard Mrs. Latimer screaming. I heard shouts from nowhere else."

Mrs. Latimer was seen by Capt. Buchanan tonight, to whom she made a complete denial of the Johnson story so far as it relates directly to her.

COFFEE ZONE RUINED BY PRESENT ERUPTION

Three Guatemala Towns and Thousands of Lives in Imminent Danger.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—The entire coffee zone of Gautemala has been destroyed by flames and smoke from the volcano of Santa Maria. Eruptions threaten the destruction of every living thing within reach of the fumes and fire that pour from the burning mountain, according to a cable dispatch to Castle Bros., importers of this city, received from their coffee plantation in Guatemala.

"Last Monday," said Louis Hirsch of Castle Bros., "I wired to our representatives there, asking for news of the eruption, and last night I received in reply this cable dispatch:

"'It is true. Enormous losses. Probable volcanic eruption. Coffee zone destroyed. Our lives are in danger. Further reports will follow.'

"If the coffee district is destroyed, as the cable seems to indicate, one-third of the crop is most likely involved.

"The volcano of Santa Maria is between Retalhuien and Quezeltenango. The towns in the neighborhood most likely to be destroyed are San Felipe, Mazatenango and Quezeltenango. The volcano has been quiet for many years.

"I was in the district last April at the time when earthquakes racked the country. Now volcanic eruptions accompanied the quakes."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—United States Consul General McNally in Guatemala has informed the department of state that the eruption of the volcano at Santa Maria continues. Quezeltenango is covered with a six-inch coat of volcanic dust. Rich coffee plantations on the coast side were buried under seven feet of sand and ashes from the volcano. Detonations are plainly heard in the capital and there are frequent earthquakes. The population is terror-stricken. Another eruption of a volcano in the department of Tombadon is reported.

STRIKE IS RENEWED IN SEVEN COLLIERIES

Independent Operators Are Accused of Not Playing Fair With Miners.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAZLETON, PA., Oct. 30.—The strike at the seven collieries of Coxe Bros. & Co., the four mines of G. B. Markle & Co., and the Silver Brook operation of J. S. Wentz & Co., was officially renewed today through an order issued by District Secretary Gallagher, upon instructions from President Mitchell.

The strikers at those mines were not permitted to return to work in a body, Coxe insisting that his employes make personal application for their former positions, and G. B. Markle & Co. requiring that each man promise to abide by the decision of the arbitration commission. The mine workers allege that the object of these requirements is discrimination against men who were prominent in the strike.

The following notices were posted by Coxe Bros. & Co. at their collieries today:

"Any man who by intimidation (moral persuasion) attempts to induce a company employe to leave or join a society, or anybody who objects to work with any other employe because he has, or does not belong to a society, will be discharged."

A MECHANICAL PADEREWSKI.

The Chase & Baker Piano Player a Famed Performer, a Teacher of Artistic Perfection and a Source of Continual Pleasure to Music Lovers.

How many people there are who love music who cannot play, and cannot even sing.

Piano players came in answer to a crying demand. Thousands upon thousands of people longed for music in their homes. People in middle life acquired the means to own pianos, but could not learn to play, or had not the time to study. How they wished for a way to bring out the latent melody locked up in those beautiful mahogany boxes. Others, capable musicians themselves, have not the time to practice, but dearly love to be up to date in musical matters, and many, many people who have pianos and can play them, who prefer to hear them played—if well played. These and thousands upon thousands of others wanted a mechanical player but did not know what they wanted.

Their wishes were interpreted before they were expressed.

The Chase & Baker Piano Player is an invention that meets the wants of the people in a degree that nothing else has of all the wonderful devices of this wonderful age.

Those who cannot play may have music in their homes now. Those who can play may learn by it the perfect artistic merit of every new piece of music published. Those who want to hear their pianos played in perfect manner may have their wish granted.

Chase & Baker Piano Players are the acme of perfection in mechanical piano players. It is the result of tireless effort and unlimited expenditure of money. It is so perfect there seems nothing to be desired. But if there is a possible improvement it will always be found in the Chase & Baker Piano Player.

If you have a Chase & Baker Piano Player in your home you have the very latest and best music written always right at your finger ends. In a moment's time it may be attached to any piano and a child can operate it. There is not a possibility of the slightest injury to the piano, and the Chase & Baker Piano Player is an ornament as well as a means of infinite pleasure and delight.

The Chase & Baker Piano Players are sold only by W. F. Frederick, 638 Smithfield street. G. Schroeder, Mgr. Also sole agent for (genuine) Ellekering, Hardman, Krueger, McPhail, Behr Bros., Haines & Co. and other pianos of world wide reputation, and the great Estey and Mason & Hamlin organs. CONNERS' ACTION CALLED TRICKERY

Court Refuses a Mandamus on the Machine Delinquent Tax Collector.

THE CITIZENS DEFEATED

Reversal Only of Minor Importance, However—Machine Conspiracy to Disfranchise Voters Is Laid Bare.

The rule for a writ of mandamus on Delinquent Tax Collector Samuel P. Connor, asked for by three voters of the Twentieth ward acting for the Citizens party, was discharged yesterday by Judge R. S. Frazer, sitting with Judges John D. Shafer and Elliott Rodgers, and Mr. Connor does not have to furnish tax receipts to about 80 voters of the Twentieth ward, many of them residents of long standing in the ward.

The court's decision is in minor defeat for the Citizens party, but it leaves Delinquent Tax Collector Conner in such a position that his actions in the matter were characterized by Attorney E. S. Crawford as "trickery." Mr. Conner lives in the Twentieth ward, and through him many of his neighbors who are opposed to him politically, will be prevented from casting their ballot.

The hearing was important, for it supplied John P. Hunter, one of the attorneys for the machine, an excuse for giving advice, characterized as pernicious, to the machine city committee at its meeting last night. Thereby he disclosed a trick that the machine intends to play on election day by dispuling several thousand tax receipts issued by Delinquent Tax Collector Conner to Citizens party voters.

General Assault by the Machine.

An assault all along the line is to be made on these receipts, not that the genuineness of the receipts is to be dispute, but because it will be alleged that a man cannot legally vote on a tax receipt obtained though a written order to another. As the Citizens party got more than 5,000 bona fide receipts from Conner's office, the magnitude of the conspiracy can be imagined.

During the hearing Judge Frazer said: "The law says that a voter shall have resided in the district and shall have paid a tax. I doubt whether every man who votes on the strength of a tax receipt issued on an order is not voting unlawfully."

Taking this remark as his cue, John P. Hunter, at the meeting of the machine city committee last night, in giving the law as it applies to overseers and watchers at elections, said: "The overseers have a right to ask every voter, and the voter must answer, whether he himself paid the money for which he obtained his tax receipt." When the meeting was over Hunter was asked if he meant that a man could not vote on a tax receipt which he had authorized another man to procure for him. "A man has no right to vote on such a tax receipt," replied Hunter, "and the overseers ought to ask the voters whether they themselves paid the money."

Difference Whose Ox Is Gored.

"But the Republican organization has got tax receipts for voters on orders," Hunter was reminded.

"But you must not ask our voters the question," said Hunter. "You must ask only the fellows on the other side. Let our men vote on their tax receipts, no matter how they got them."

It is the intention to give to each machine overseer a list of the voters of his district for whom the Citizens party got tax receipts. The overseers will ask the question suggested by Hunter, and if the voter answer that he gave an order for the receipt, or tells the overseer that it is none of his business, then the overseers will try to induce the election boards to refuse to receive the ballot. Attorney Crawford was asked last night if this plan would work.

"The law of 1897 permits the citizen to authorize anyone to procure his tax receipt," said Mr. Crawford. "If the plan you mention is followed by the ring it would be intimidation of the voter, which is punishable by law."

In the mandamus hearing the petitioners were represented by Attorney Charles S. Crawford, Rodgers McCreery, and Attorney P. Hunter acted for Conner. The proceedings opened with the reading of the petition, in which it was recited that Conner had returned 80 tax orders, refusing to give receipts for them, and the reading of Conner's answer.

Mawhinney's Position Clear.

John L. Mawhinney was called to the stand and questioned about the tax orders for tax receipts signed by Charles Frederick W., D. R., R. C. and H. C. Wilmarth. Conner's attorney tried to show that Mawhinney had presented these duplicates, which were in different handwriting from the other receipts in the same names, but Mawhinney identified those he had presented, denying any knowledge of the five duplicates.

Frederick W. Wilmarth was called to the stand, and he identified the orders recognized by Mawhinney as the genuine orders which he and his sons had handed over to the Citizens party managers. Thereupon Mr. Crawford showed that tax orders were kept in Conner's desk; that other persons had access to that desk; that Conner even carried tax orders around in his pockets, and that the forged tax orders, which Mawhinney had not handled, might have been prepared by enemies to the Citizens party. In fact, last night Mr. Crawford said that the forged orders had evidently been placed surreptitiously among Mawhinney's genuine orders after the genuine ones had left Mawhinney's possession.

Crawford Spoke Plainly.

The hearing lasted a long time, but finally came to a close when it was shown that Mawhinney had offered the money to Conner, but that Coner said it was not necessary to pay it until Mawhinney received the tax receipts; and that Mawhinney, his suspicion lulled, and taking Conner at his word, did not pay the money when he deposited the 80 orders, and that Conner waited until after the last day on which taxes could be paid, October 4, and then returned the orders to Mawhinney because he, Conner, had not received the money. It was at this point that Mr. Crawford characterized Conner's act as "trickery."

The court said that it did not matter whether Mawhinney had been deceived by Conner or not; that it was admitted that Conner had not received the money for the 80 tax receipts, and, therefore, Conner could not, under the law, give receipts dated October 4. The court therefore dismissed the rule.

NO TRACE FOUND OF LOST GROETZINGER

Bellevue Man's Relatives Are Loth to Believe the Worst. Have No Explanation.

Nothing that would lead to the discovery of the fate of Emil P. Groetzinger, the Bellevue man who has been missing since Tuesday night of last week, had been learned last night. Mrs. Groetzinger said last night that she is sure her husband is not dead and is loth to believe the murder theory.

The idea that Groetzinger was murdered and his body thrown in the Ohio river is being denied by residents of the vicinity where the glass globe and wax flowers and papers belonging to Groetzinger were found.

Trainmen and street car conductors, from the city to Beaver Falls, have been questioned. Last night Mrs. Groetzinger said that it is her opinion that her husband was suddenly taken ill, and, losing his reason, has wandered away.

Mrs. Groetzinger expressed indignation at the apparent apathy of the county authorities. "My brother-in-law, Adolph, called on County Detective Robinson several days ago," said Mrs. Groetzinger, "and was told that something would be done immediately. So far, we have received no assistance from them. I guess the county officials are too busy with politics to devote any time to their real duties."

Three little children of the missing man are kept in ignorance of the state of affairs, and on seeing their father's picture in the papers yesterday began to inquire the cause of it.

Adolph Groetzinger will appeal to the county authorities today again, in the hope that they will take some immediate action.

Likely to Die from Wounds.

The condition of Mrs. Reese Davis, who was beaten by her husband with a sledge hammer Tuesday, was much worse yesterday. The woman took a sinking spell late in the afternoon and her condition became precarious.

HEAD WILL RECOVER.

Wound Healed and He Can Take Solid Food.

Indications are that Bruce Head will recover from the wound inflicted on him by Dr. Ellis A. Duncan. In a few days the physicians will issue a certificate to this effect and bail will be offered for Dr. Duncan's release by his uncle, W. H. McClure, of Louisville. Head rested well during the day. Dr. R. L. Walker dressed the wound and found it to be healing as rapidly as could be expected.

The laceration of the tongue healed sufficiently so as to permit solid nourishment to be administered to him for the first time since the shooting. Head has been an inveterate cigarette smoker. His system was greatly affected by this when he was wounded.

BENEFITS OF A JUVENILE COURT

Judge A. M. Beitler of Philadelphia Addressed Congress of Mothers.

CARE OF THE CHILDREN

Fruitful Topic Discussed from Several Standpoints Yesterday. Judge Bufington Hopes for Success of County Venture.

The third annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers opened yesterday morning in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, Wood street. The theme of the night session was the juvenile court. The subject was discussed by Judge Abram M. Beitler of Philadelphia, Judge Joseph Buffington of the United States district court, Mrs. Alice Montgomery, a probation officer of Philadelphia, and the Rev. H. D. Lindsay, D. D., of Allegheny.

Judge Beitler explained the character and purpose of the juvenile act. In Philadelphia the first 12 judges take their turn presiding over the juvenile court. Of these nine were hostile to the act, but after serving and realizing the virtue of its spirit, every one of them now favors it.

Work of Philadelphia Courts.

Since the establishment of the juvenile court in Philadelphia 1025 children have been before it. Of these 98 were sent to the house of refuge and 597 placed in the care of the probation officers. But 24 had been returned to court again.

Judge Beitler said before this law was passed humane societies and similar agencies could investigate cases of neglected children, but could never obtain a legal custody. If a child is given into the custody of a society or person by the juvenile court it becomes a legal ward, and its custodians depend on the court for advice.

Mrs. Montgomery, who has 400 boys in her custody from the juvenile court of Philadelphia, recounted numerous experiences she has had with boys who would have heretofore been considered incorrigible, but who are making in the right direction under her direction and advice of the court.

Judge Buffington Pledged Support.

Judge Buffington said he believed that three-fourths of the crimes committed was due to home environments. He said it was his wish that the matter be taken up by the local judges as earnestly as it had been in Philadelphia. "The action of the Philadelphia courts," he said, "will have a vital influence in the lives of the 1,000 children that only eternity will reveal. The happiest thing of the law is that the child is dignified in the eyes of indifferent parents. When a child enlists the interest of judges and officers in its welfare, it assumes a new dignity before its own people."

At the opening session of the congress, in the morning, addresses of welcome were delivered by the Rev. S. S. Gibson, D. D., and Mrs. J. Palmer O'Neil, secretary of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association. Mrs. Frederic Schoff of Philadelphia, the president of the congress, responded in a happy manner and the remainder of the morning session was devoted to general reports.

At the afternoon session William E. Meehan of Philadelphia read a paper on "Special Schools as a Preventive of Reformatories."

Miss Platt, assistant principal of the Garfield school, Pittsburgh, gave an interesting talk on the industrial and kindergarten schools in Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

SHOULD REBUKE MUD THROWERS

One Reason Why Odell Should Be Re-Elected Governor.

ROOT ON THE ISSUES

Points to Good Record of Republican Party in State and Nation and Asks if President Roosevelt Shall Not Be Upheld.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Cooper Union was filled tonight with people who had come to attend a Republican meeting, the principal speakers being Mayor Low, Gov. Odell and Secretary of War Root. Mr. Low eulogized Gov. Odell and his administration of state affairs. Gov. Odell followed in an address in which he cast aside as absurd the prediction that his majority would be as small as some had prophesied.

Secretary of War Root spoke after the governor had finished, and said:

"It is a pleasure to come home and to meet you here in this familiar and historic place and to say that as a citizen of New York, I have been proud of Gov. Odell's administration during the past two years. He has shown himself a strong man, and an honest one in the governor's chair. He has reduced taxes and made the public service more effective and has given the state a clean and efficient business administration.

Stands on His Record.

"He ought to be re-elected for the good work he has done as governor. He ought to be re-elected for the good he will be able to do during another term. And he ought to be re-elected as a rebuke to the outrageous and unfounded personal attack that has been made upon him by opponents who are trying to obscure and get away from the real issues of the campaign. We ought to make it known that a long life of probity and distinguished public service can not be effaced by a handful of mud and that that kind of politics does not go in our state.

"The national issue of this political campaign, in its most important and practical aspect, is whether President Roosevelt shall be sustained in his administration of the national government.

"There ought to be no indifference upon this question among the people of the state of New York. There ought to be no uncertain or faint answer to the question. If the people of the state feel toward the president as they did when they gave the electoral vote of the state to him for vice president in 1900, they will answer.

Appeal to President's State.

"Still more, if they think better of him now than they did then, as I believe they do; if they think he has made a good president, as I believe they do; if they are proud of him, as I think they are—proud of his manly and noble qualities, his courage, his frankness, his freedom from guile and double-dealing, the genuineness of his Republican simplicity, the sincerity of his love of country and of his countrymen, the rugged strength of the character, the exceptional power of his trained intelligence, the wise thoughtfulness and boldness with which he is grappling problems of government when smaller and selfish men would temporize—then the people of the president's own state will do their duty to him as he is doing his duty by them, and will send representatives to congress at the coming election who will stand by him and work with him for the good of the country.

Good Record of Congress.

"It will be difficult to find a better record of wise and painstaking legislative performance than is furnished by the Republican majority in the present congress. Besides dealing with all of the great appropriation bills, with their multitude of difficult questions affecting the public welfare, in their first session they relieved the industry and property of the country from the burden of the war revenue taxes, they settled by an admirable statute the long vexed question of the isthmian canal; they inaugurated a new system for the irrigation of arid lands in the west; they worked out and adopted laws for the safe government of the Philippine islands, exhibiting a high order of executive ability. All these great measures received most thoughtful and careful consideration and involved patient and laborious work in committee and instructive discussion in both houses. The one case of urgent necessity for action which failed of response was the bill for a just measure of reciprocity with Cuba, and that was defeated by a combination between the Democrats in congress and a small minority of the Republicans refusing to go with the majority of their party. There is good reason to believe that the measure will succeed at the next session.

No Call for Change.

"What is there to come which calls for such a change? Is the reason to be found in a desire for the curbing of trusts, for an effective treatment of labor troubles, or for a revision of the tariff? Certainly not.

"The trust evils complained of are an outgrowth of the process of industrial development of the age. Their regulation is also a necessary part of that process.

"Let us not, in fixing our gaze upon small evils, forget the greater good. The automobiles are of little account. Who owns the farm wagons is the important question. Let us keep our faith in American institutions and deal with the evils that are before us now and are to come hereafter, along the lines of the same beneficient system which has dealt successfully with every phase of the great struggle for the distribution of wealth in our past. The capacity of a people for self-government is shown by its ability to reject violent and destructive remedies and to proceed patiently with practical, common sense, separating the good from the bad, and checking and suppressing what is bad while holding on to what is good.

"The Republican party proposes to follow this course, to regulate and curb and suppress the bad trusts, rather than to destroy the good and the bad together, and, with them, the prosperity which brings such beneficent results to our country."

FIVE NEW PRIESTS WERE APPOINTED

List of Irremovable Rectors Increased at Triennial Synod of Pittsburgh Diocese.

The triennial synod of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Roman Catholic church was in session all of yesterday. About 200 priests assembled in the episcopal residence and marched to the cathedral, where high solemn mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father E. A. Bush of St. Peter's, Allegheny.

In the procession the Rt. Rev. Leander Scherr of St. Vincent's monastery represented the Benedictine order. The Franciscans, Carmelites, Passionists and Capuchins were represented.

In the celebration of high mass Father Bush was assisted by the Rev. Father Francis Keane, the Rev. Father J. C. Beane, the Rev. Father John Greiner, the Rev. Father Stephen J. Schramm and the Rev. Father A. A. Lambing. The annual sermon was delivered by the Rev. Father F. L. Tobin, vicar general, in which he dwelt on the importance of the gathering and the outcome of its deliberations on the parishes within the Pittsburgh diocese.

This diocese has grown so large that five additional priests were allowed. The appointees were placed on the list of irremovable rectors and are as follows: The Rev. Father Francis Keane, Sacred Heart church, Pittsburgh; the Rev. Father Marion David Devlin, St. Brigid's, Pittsburgh; the Rev. Father John Duffner, Most Holy Name, Troy Hill, Allegheny; the Rev. Father J. E. Grobel, St. Joseph's, Mt. Oliver.

The business session began at 2 o'clock, Bishop Phelan presided. The session, which was executive, was conducted in Latin. After this meeting the priests adjourned to the cathedral, where the Rev. Father E. H. Bush, for Bishop Phelan, read the list of committees for the synod. They are as follows:

Chancellors, the Rev. Fathers Suhr, Kaufman, Kiefli, McDermott; Canonical and Hymn; mission bands, directors, the Rev. Fathers Cannerd, Grobel, Thomas and Devlin; sacred music, the Rev. Fathers Bush, McKeever, Schramm, O'Connell and Wertz; rural diocese, the Rev. Father Michael Lambing, chairman; school commission, the Rev. Fathers H. H. Lambing, Michael Lambing, McKeever, Ryan, Diebel, Stock, Devlin, Schramm, Wendel, Price, Wertz, Geilhert, Rameifanger, Remmel, Hagrich, Cromak, Gasperet, Beane, Gerstl, Suhr and Speckert; teachers' examiners, the Rev. Fathers Lambing, Grobel, Schramm, Fitzgerlins, Price and Tomaszewski; synodical examiners, the Rev. Fathers Suhr, McKeever, Keane, Rameifanger, Devlin, Lambing, Cunningham and Ambrose. The synod was adjourned with a prayer by the bishop.

CALL IT BREACH OF UNIONISM

British Trades Congress Condemn Shaffer's Advocacy of Wage Cut.

DOLAN TELLS OF ACTION

His Two Month in Great Britain Convinced Him of Better Working Conditions Here—Lowering Wages Abroad.

"In Great Britain, with the strong sentiment of the working people for unionism, they condemn as a flagrant abrogation of the principles of true unionism the move of the tin plate workers here in accepting a wage reduction which will lose brother-workers of another country employment," said President Patrick Dolan of the Pittsburgh district organization of the United Mine Workers of America, who returned on Wednesday from his trip abroad as the fraternal delegate of the American Federation of Labor to the British Trades congress.

"The congress passed resolutions condemning the attitude of President Shaffer for the acceptance of the wage reduction. The men will accept a reduction on their already low wages to meet this movement here.

"We outstrip Great Britain in every feature of industrial development. The conditions of our working people are far better. Just before I left for home the Scottish miners suffered a wage reduction, placing them at the minimum wage of their sliding scale, which is $1.71 for a day's work of a skilled miner. The reduction was one pence and was arrived at by the quarterly wage adjustment conducted by the sheriffs for the miners and the mine masters. It was a singular thing, in point of the increased demand for British coal by reason of our own strike. The same conditions exist in other crafts and wages are being gradually forced lower.

"The British miners are behind us in their obdurate antagonism to teh use of machinery. The entire country seems to be a generation behind us. Pittsburgh far outstrips any of the big cities of the British islands as a home for working men. A citizen of Glasgow, to impress me with its greatness, declared that 21,000,000 tons of coal were shipped from that port last year. 'No doubt,' I said, 'we have one company in Pittsburgh which mined and shipped more than that, while it was handicapped from the car shortage.'"

The miners' leader will prepare a statement in connection with his work as the fraternal delegate to the British labor meeting. Much of his two months abroad was spent at his old home at Coat Bridge, Lanarkshire, Scotland, where he was born and has brothers and sisters.

HUNTER CHASED BY A BIG BEAR

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Ralph M. Reed and Ira S. Fulkerson were hunting in Warren county yesterday for quail and pheasants, and Reed was in turn hunted by a full-grown bear. When he sighted the animal he fired upon it with light bird-shot, which only made it angry. Bruin took after the hunter, who was nearly two miles from camp, and a desperate race took place. The bear slowly gained on Reed, who barely managed to reach camp ahead of the animal.

The President Begins to Occupy It Before Repairs Are Complete. Office Nearly Done.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt is sleeping tonight in the rejuvenated White House. The president's desire to occupy the White House before it is entirely completed is understood to be a move on his part to have the remaining work hastened to speedy completion.

The new executive office will be occupied next week, on the return of the president from Oyster Bay, and the first cabinet meeting in some months will be held there a week from Tuesday.

The president is the sole occupant of the executive mansion tonight, so far as the Roosevelt family is concerned. Mrs. Roosevelt will be back here next week.

TARIFF REVISION STILL HIS THEME

Ex-President Grover Cleveland Talks in Morristown, N. J., on Issues of '84.

RELATION TO TRUSTS

Declares That Common People Are Forgotten in Efforts to Allow Rich to Grow Richer. Gives Non-Partisian Reception.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 30.—Former President Cleveland spoke tonight at a political meeting in Lyceum hall. Special trains brought hundreds of people from other cities and towns in this vicinity, and Mr. Cleveland received an ovation.

Following the meeting there was a non-partisan reception to Mr. Cleveland, at which about 200 prominent residents were present. In his address at Lyceum hall Mr. Cleveland said:

I was born in New Jersey. After long absence, full of incidents and vicissitudes, I have returned to the old state, where I hope to pass the remainder of my days and find a final resting place.

I am especially pleased to learn that tariff reform has been made the principal issue of the campaign you have in hand. Never within my experience has there been a time when it should be more earnestly, persistently and honestly pressed upon the attention of our countrymen than now.

Custom duties must continue to be the source of government maintenance until another plan is devised, but a tariff constructed for the purpose of protection as its chief object is at all times and in every feature of it an unjust and an unfair burden upon the masses of our people; but the bold and arrogant developments of its unfairness and injustice in recent years, and the new directions they have taken, ought to especially arrest the attention of and apprehension of every thoughtful, sober-minded citizen.

Speaking of the Dingley tariff act, Mr. Cleveland said:

I have heard it said upon excellent authority that expectant beneficiaries under the existing tariff laws, made by its friends, were actually allowed to construct the schedule by which they expected to profit.

Talks of Common People.

This was quite in keeping with the color and complexion of the entire scheme. Evidence abounds in and about it, indicating that the welfare and interests of the common people of our land were not allowed to disturb in any unpleasant degree the serenity of those having the work in hand. I believe this last exploit of the so-called friends of the tariff in its revision should amply satisfy any thoughtful citizen unbiased by interest that the spirit of a high protective tariff grows by indulgence and mocks what it feeds upon, and that its progressive greed and ruthlessness is becoming more and more a menace to the welfare and happiness of our people. How long has it been thought decent or even safe to cheat the consumers of coal by putting it on the free list, but dishonestly providing for its custom taxation in another cunningly constructed provision of the law? How recently have the "friends of the tariff" had the boldness to perpetrate such a trick and take the chances of facing the people, when in the painful stress of a threatened coal famine it should be exposed?

When the friends of the tariff last took up the work of its reconstruction, trusts and combinations had increased by the hundreds. The consequence of their operation could not fail to be understood.

Keeps Out Competition.

It was as plain then as now that a high protective tariff defends them against foreign competition and that by agreed association and confederacy in production and price they defend themselves against competition at home. It was perfectly apparent that under the broad wings of high protection, and fattened by unearned accumulation, they could complacently close their ears to the troublesome cry for easier living from the every-day consumer.

Is it not true then that the encroachments of the doctrine of high protection have been constantly progressive? Is it not true that the heedlessness of its expectant beneficiaries and their disregard for the welfare of the great mass of consumers is more and more impudently exhibited? And is it not true that, to all other reason for a reform of our tariff laws, there is added the birth and growth of the cruel and unmerciful progency of trusts and combinations which stand guard against all attempts to seek relief in the field of free competition? That present tariff conditions have assumed a complexion which not only requires a check in its aggressiveness, but actual amendments, is at last admitted among those responsible for those conditions. Such a concession was made when a dozen or more reciprocity treaties were submitted to the senate, but the sincerity of the concession and the honest intention to surrender the least advantage as long as it can be held, is emphatically disproved by the fact that session after session of the senate has passed without taking the least action on these treaties.

Talk of Revision.

I need hardly refer to the prevalence just at this time among the supporters of high protection of declarations and professions in favor of tariff readjustment. We hear it on every side. What does it mean? It means that they see the handwriting on the wall as they have never seen it before. Does it mean that they are sincerely willing to do something for the people as against old comrades who have heretofore paid well for the neglect of the people?

How can we believe this when we see still paraded up and down before our sight the hoary headed, bloated and malodorous old fraud and pretense that the tariff should be revised by its friends? What have these friends of the tariff done that they should again be trusted? They have quieted the people's fears and professed solicitude for their welfare and promised to lead them to pleasant places, and now that shoals and rocks have been struck they seek by another promise to mend the whole affair and retain the confidence and trust of those they have deluded.

BELT LINE ROAD TO SHUT OUT THE WABASH

Pennsy and Its Branches Making Rapid Surveys Into New Castle.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 30.—Surveys for a belt line railroad, to be controlled by the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, are being made through the New Castle and West Pittsburgh district. It is believed that the purpose is to block the entrance of the Wabash into the Shenango valley.

A dozen civil engineers are now rushing the survey work on the new belt line, which will extend from the Baltimore & Ohio tracks at the new industrial town of West Pittsburgh, five miles south of this city, to New Castle Junction.

It will run across the Beaver river at Moravia and join the Pennsylvania tracks, running parallel with the latter to Mahoningtown. The belt line then turns in a wide circle and runs parallel with the Lake Erie, returning to Moravia. The Wabash is planning to enter New Castle on a line parallel with the Pennsylvania, and the new circle railroad will occupy the route surveyed by the Wabash. It is given out that the purpose of the belt line is to make shifting between the three roads more convenient.

SOLDIER BROTHER TURNED UP.

Supposed Dead Man Appears at Army Reunion in New Castle.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Officers were elected last night at the close of the annual reunion of the Seventh Pennsylvania cavalry, as follows: President, Col. Charles S. Greenough of Cincinnati; vice presidents, James L. Bernhart of Juniata, Smith Dawson of New Haven, Mahlon Linton of East Bethlehem and Casper Sherman of Butler; secretary and treasurer, George F. Stealing of Orwigsburg, Pa.

The last named returned to attend the reunion after having long been supposed by his relatives here to have met his death in the confederate army. When the war broke out he was forced to join a Louisiana regiment and served with it until he found an opportunity to join the union forces. Stealing was officially reported killed on the confederate war record. At the postoffice here he asked for mail and was given a letter addressed to John A., his brother, whom he had not seen for 40 years. This led to the reunion of the brothers.

JURY HELD WITNESS FOR CLIFFORD MURDER

Wm. Byassee Incriminated Himself When Placed Upon the Stand.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 30.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Charles Clifford, murdered at Finleyville on Monday evening, was held today. The jury decided that Clifford came to his death as a result of wounds inflicted by William Byassee.

John Jasper Banks, the negro who was thought at first to be the murderer, was exonerated on the charge of killing Clifford, but was committed to jail to await the result of the injuries of John Jarrett, who was shot in the right breast by Clifford just before the latter was killed. It is believed that Banks may have been implicated in the shooting of Jarrett.

The principal witness was Eli Sawyer, a negro employed on the tipple of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at the Germania mines. Sawyer testified that he saw Clifford and Banks walking along the road near Finleyville and also saw Byassee coming up behind them. The men scuffled and Banks and Byassee walked away, leaving Clifford dead in the road.

Byassee, when called as a witness, incriminated himself, although repeatedly warned by the coroner that he need not give evidence against himself. He admitted that he struck Clifford with his fist, knocked him down and left him unconscious.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

The Post quotes The Gazette as saying that if Mr. Kennedy should be elected to congress in the Twenty-third district "he will vote against the interests of the coke region." The Gazette did not say so. We said that he would vote against Mr. Dalzell for speaker, and vote against President Roosevelt's policy. The Post remarks that "as he has been so long identified with" the interests of the coke region, "it is not a supposable case that if he goes to congress he will not seek to strengthen them." It is a supposable case, for if he goes to congress he will presumably act with the Democratic party which elected him and will be a supporter of policies and measures which have in the past brought ruin and distress upon the interests not only of the coke region, but of every region of industry in the country. No man has a right to vote for Mr. Kennedy unless he favors the national control of the Democratic party.

Mr. Guthrie has succeeded in reaching the close of the campaign without affirming any positive policy on any public issue. In his speech last night he had a good opportunity to tell just what he meant by ballot reform, but he did not improve the occasion. He condemned the present ballot system, with its unending supply of technical points to be fought out in the Dauphin county courts, and so do we, but he won't say specifically what sort of a ballot system he proposes. The infliction of the present ballot system upon voters is largely the result of the attitude of his own party, and so far as anything can be learned of its purposes it favors making the ballot system worse instead of better. Mr. Guthrie is a man who deals in words instead of things. If the reform label is on a nostrum he takes the contents on trust.

It is doubtless owing to Mr. Guthrie's inability to get beyond generalities that his campaign speeches are so apt to degenerate into mere rant. A man can't keep talking reform forever without running some risk of having to explain just what he means by reform, and probably there is nothing more definite in Mr. Guthrie's thought in that direction than an irridescent haze of good intentions. So when he is up against the necessity of saying something definite he stops talking about his own party and begins to pitch into the record of the Republican party. There at least he can be specific, although only in the way of censure. In his haste to resort to this easy task he fell all over himself in his speech Wednesday night. Accepting without investigation a campaign calumny he had found in the newspapers of the day, he denounced a bond sale on sinking fund account as "an instance of the bold methods taken by this gang of political scamps." As a matter of fact there was nothing reprehensible about the transaction. United States bonds maturing in six years were sold at a high premium and the bulk of the proceeds invested in state bonds having 12 years to run. If the United States bonds had been retained until maturity they would have been worth only face value and by the sale last December the sinking fund commissioners netted a premium of $350,-205 03. An opposition must have little to go upon when it has to offer a transaction of that kind as a reason for a change of government.

This paucity of real argument characterizes not only Mr. Guthrie's speeches, but also the general conduct of the Democratic campaign. There is no lack of evils in the methods of state government, and the Democratic party would perform a useful public service by criticising them. But criticism to be effective must not simply show that things are bad, but why they are bad, so as to indicate the lines upon which remedial action should proceed. But the Democratic party seems altogether incompetent to undertake such criticism. It dwells upon the shortcomings of Republican administration and without saying in what it will act differently or how it will do better asks that the Republicans shall be turned out and the Democrats turned in. The homely proverb about "out of the frying pan into the fire" is a sufficient answer to such argument, which is all that even Mr. Pattison and Mr. Guthrie have to offer. The same low level of partisan importunity is found in the closing appeal issued by Chairman Creasy of the Democratic state committee. The main argument upon which he asks the support of voters is that in the Republican state convention "the manifest choice of delegates representing their constituents" was "ruthlessly set aside." The Democratic campaign managers must be desperately hard up for argument when they cannot find in the administration of public affairs a basis of appeal for support, but must go into the management of Republican party affairs. What business is that of theirs?

The moral and intellectual feebleness of the Democratic party organization is one of the greatest evils of our politics. The Republican party must not only carry on the practical work of government, but must also depend upon its own resources for the criticism that is presumably the chief duty of the opposition party. The genuine health and soundness of the Republican party is shown by the vitality of protest which arises in its ranks against bad government. It is to such a protest that the Republican party owes the convention action which Chairman Cressy seeks to turn to Democratic advantage. It sent the nomination to a man whose reputation and character is ample assurance that ring rule can never fasten its hold upon him, but he will bring to the discharge of the duties of his office a rugged and inflexible honesty, not to be cajoled nor intimidated into any course of action not dictated by clear considerations of public welfare irrespective of party interest. No fair-minded man can doubt that Judge Pennypacker will set up the highest standards of official conduct in the executive department, and that all the influence of that department will be steadily exerted to raise and purify the tone of legislation.

It is because the marked change impending in Republican administration is recognized by the ring that already there are plain indications that ring control is basing its hopes for continuance on Democratic success. Senator Flinn is well-known to be promoting a ring ticket headed by the Democratic state candidates, and so far as possible the city payroll is being handled in the same direction. While Mr. Pattison and Mr. Guthrie are going about denouncing the Republican party on the score of ring rule, the very ring rule which has created the odium which they are taking advantage of is made an attachment of their own campaign. We do not know what new deals for "mutual political and business advantage" are behind the alliance between the Flinn machine and the Democratic state ticket which is embodied in the so-called "Ballot Reform" ticket, but we do know that Senator Flinn has never been known to do anything for nothing, and his political activities are invariably directed to the furtherance of his business interests. He is now a prominent factor in Democratic party politics, and in promoting the election of Pattison and Guthrie he will be certain to get his profit out of the transaction if it goes through, whether they know it or not. They may think that Flinn is trying to roll up a vote for them in Allegheny county through love and affection, but he is simply attending to the old business at a new stand, and in the event of Democratic success will constitute part of the power behind the throne.

AN INEVITABLE ISSUE.

President Garfield once remarked that unsettled questions have no pity for the repose of nations. The wisdom of the saying is continually exemplified by the course of events. The question of currency reform, although it had been supposed that it had been laid to rest by the financial legislation of the last congress, is forcing its way to the front again from the sheer necessities of the case.

The legislation that has taken place, although conferring an immense benefit by its definite establishment of the gold standard, was simply palliative in its treatment of the currency system. Capital requirements were lowered so as to promote the establishment of country banks and a 2 per cent issue of bonds was made so as to enable them to procure bonds for deposit against circulation. These provisions increased banknote circulation, but did not cure the inherent defects of the system, which remains as rigid and unelastic as before. Its inadequacy to meet business needs was recently shown by an unnatural financial stringency which forced rates for loans up to exorbitant figures and caused a feeling of panic in the midst of general prosperity.

The emergency was so great as to force the secretary of the treasury to resort to extraordinary measures to give a relief to the money market which a sound currency system would give automatically and without strain or disturbance. The tremendous power which the process vests in the personal discretion of the secretary of the treasury were sharply thrust upon public attention. The truth of the case was fully expressed by Secretary Fairchild in his treasury report for 1887, when he said that this function of discretionary relief to the money market is "a power which unnecessarily ought not to be given to, and a responsibility which ought not to be put upon, any officer of the government." It is, however, incidental to the present system. The sub-treasury system provides that the government shall lock up its funds instead of banking them, and the ensuing contraction of the currency pinches the money market until the secretary of the treasury finds some way of getting the treasury funds back into circulation.

While the present currency system is inadequate to present needs, fresh difficulties are looming up from the necessity of extending our currency system to the Philippines and other countries under national jurisdiction. Our growing commercial interests also demand machinery for international banking which the national banking law prohibits. Banks financing the transactions of international commerce have to have branches at important business centers embraced in the movement of that commerce, but the national banking law does not permit the establishment of branch banks. While such trammels are imposed, American commercial interests are put at a disadvantage in American possessions. An effort is being made to get around the difficulty by means of trust companies, and financial exchanges between the United States and the Philippines are now largely carried on through trust companies having branches both in this country and in the Philippines, but what currency they require they have to get from the currency supply of the United States, thus increasing the pressure upon resources already inadequate. The curious feature of the situation is that the more our commerce prospers and the more currency its exchanges require the worse the general situation will become as regards the working of our currency system.

The root of the trouble is that our currency system is based upon deposits of government bonds, so that there is no connection between need and supply. The only complete cure will come from the establishment of a currency system based upon assets, in which case need and supply go together, as legitimate enterprise requiring accommodation furnishes the security upon which necessary supplies of currency can issue. The concern of the government in the matter then terminates with requiring such guarantees as will assure the security of note holders. It is stated that the urgency of the situation has impressed itself upon the administration, and although currency reform has not been an issue in the present campaign it may have to be dealt with in connection with what might be called our colonial legislation.

FANATICISM EXTRAORDINARY.

In the annals of fanaticism there is hardly anything to rival the doings of the Doukhobors, now marching barefoot in the snows of the British northwest. It is said there are 2,000 of them, men, women and children, poorly dressed, exposing themselves to the rigors of the inhospitable climate whence the blizzards come. They blindly follow their prophet and refuse to touch food of animal origin, or in the production of which animal labor has been employed. Naturally their diet is limited and insufficient.

The Doukhobors have immigrated to Canada from Russia after clashing with the Russian authorities over their refusal to do military duty or conform to the customs of the country. They did not recognize the authority of the Russian government, but had a ruler of their own, who was exiled to Obdorsk, in Siberia, and who still issues orders from there with the permission of the police. Their emigration was encouraged by Joseph S. Elkinton, a Philadelphia Quaker, aided by others of that sect.

There is but one criticism that can be passed upon the Russian government concerning its treatment of the fanatics. That is, that it should have put the entire tribe in duress pending its reformation. The strong hand of an absolute monarchy might deal summarily with wholesale insanity, while the more liberal Canadian institutions find the colony a hard problem. Fortunately the Canadian immigration bureau has a fund of $20,000, realized from the sale of horses and cattle turned loose by the fanatics when they started the march, and that money will be expended in caring for them as far as possible.

At their present rate of going the tribe will not need to be cared for long. They will perish from cold and self-imposed hunger. Many children have died on the march, their bodies being thrown into the bushes by the roadside, and this is the worst feature of the fanatical outbreak. At Yorkton, Assiniboia, the babies were taken into shelter and the mothers compelled to accompany them, but it is doubtful if they will long submit to that enforced care.

There is one possible means for the Canadian authorities to put an end to the inhuman craze. That is to bring pressure to bear upon the "prophet," who is as likely as not a willful mountebank, to compel him to order his followers to adopt more rational ideas. If he is found to be as crazy as the others it is possible his confinement might open the way to reason with the remainder. In any event the Canadians can do no less than force upon the Doukhobors care for their innocent children, even if they permit the adults to solve their own problem by starving or freezing to death. It is no restriction upon the legitimate freedom of religious worship to interfere against the adoption in a sub-Arctic region of the customs of the Master in sub-tropical Asia minor.

THE MOTHERS' CONGRESS.

Let us welcome to Pittsburgh the Pennsylvania congress of mothers. Welcome, thrice welcome! The mothers, heaven bless them, what would be the world without them? Just a wilderness. But the mothers are here and because of the mothers the wilderness blossoms as the rose. These and other thoughts are inspired by noting the headlines over a report of the first day's proceedings of the Pennsylvania congress. Go where we will we find the mothers, and we are always glad to find them, and so we settle back to peruse in comfortable, leisurely fashion the first printed report of this session of the congress to find out what the mothers have to offer for the good of the race. But, alas, there is some room for disappointment. We do not find sufficient vindication in the names of those participating in the proceedings that the mothers are there in numbers. Their experiences ought to be useful, and those who are not mothers would benefit from their presence and counsel. The comfortable, home-like feeling with which the report is reached disappears when it is noted that it is not the mothers, but some of their near relations that dominate the program. Eight names that appear are names of men. Two other names begin with "Miss." Two names begin with "Mrs." But another report adds two that are Mrs. and one other Mr. The men are the sons of mothers; the women are the daughters of mothers. But we miss the mothers—no, we Mrs. the mothers, while we Mr. the majority of those whose names appear in the first reports of the proceedings of the Pennsylvania congress of mothers. But after all it is the mothers' boys and the mothers' girls who appear on the program. In and through all the proceedings is an appreciation of the mothers that proves that the mothers are all important in the doings of old mother earth. The foot that rocks the cradle continues to move the world no matter whether the prefix to the names on the program is Mrs. Mr. or Miss. The mothers' congress is a glorification of motherhood and its duties and responsibilities. We welcome it.

Some idea of the desperation of the ring may be gathered from the proceedings at the meeting of the city committee yesterday. Dr. Barchfeld, candidate for congress, openly counseled violence at the polls. He advised watchers to carry baseball bats and to use them, and suggested to overseers the propriety of smashing ballot boxes with an ax. No one present dissented from the views of the South Sider. That speech ought to defeat Barchfeld by the largest majority ever given against a candidate for congress in Allegheny county, and it ought to destroy the last vestige of chance of success of the machine. Violence cannot and will not be tolerated as a factor in American politics. That is left for the Latin states, south, with their dictatorships, and has no place in government of, for and by the people. The first man who approaches a polling booth with a club should be and will be promptly hustled into jail, where he belongs, as an enemy to the public peace.

Grover Cleveland's speech at Morristown last night was the first positive declaration of Democratic doctrine during the campaign. It consisted of an open assault upon the principle of a tariff for the protection of American labor and capital and an attempt to explain that other Democratic cry that the tariff is the mother of trusts. On the point of absolute opposition to protection the ex-president made himself clear; on the other proposition he failed to establish a connection.

If $100 and costs is the maximum penalty for the offense of abducting a boy and compelling him to beg about the country, as reports of the court proceedings said yesterday, there is one law that needs amendment. The case against the man Hassenpflug was clear and the penalty imposed was said to be the maximum for "inducing" a boy to leave home and keeping him away by force. That crime needs to be better defined and more severely punished.

An encouraging sign in the Twenty-fourth congressional district is the open declaration of the Beaver Falls Tribune for the election of Ernest F. Acheson. During the long controversy over the Republican nomination the Tribune was silent, but in the present situation advises its Beaver county readers after marking the circle at the top of the Republican column to carefully put a cross opposite the name of Mr. Acheson in the "Regular" column.

Superintendent of Detectives Demmel admits the inefficiency of his bureau and charges it to politics—that sort of ring politics that prohibits discipline of the men who work for the ring and forbids the employment of men capable of any other service. The remedy is to clean out the ring.

Secretary of War Root gave his fellow citizens of New York the best of reasons why they should re-elect Gov. Odell and why they should uphold the hands of President Roosevelt by electing Republican congressmen. His argument also applies with great force in Pennsylvania.

President Patrick Dolan of the local mine workers is home from Europe more than ever in love with this country. He inspected the British coal mines and declares they cannot compare with those of the Pittsburgh district in appliances or conditions of mining.

Barchfeld's ambition to become a national lawmaker is condemned by his conception of how the laws should be enforced and his low estimate of the duties of citizenship.

Every encouragement will be given the genuine fun makers this evening, but severe repression will be applied in all cases of malicious mischief or outrageous conduct.

Having had a touch of "Squaw winter" we may now have "Indian summer" at almost any time.

GOTHAM HAS HAD ENOUGH OF SMOKE

Mayor Low Gives People Just Two Weeks to Replace Soft Coal With Hard.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.

New York has been tanned in soft coal smoke for the last three months, with the volume of soot becoming greater week by week. It has got to stop now. People using bituminous coal will have two weeks in which to use up their present supply and load up their bunkers with anthracite. Mayor Low today issued an order that the board of health shall resume the enforcement of the smoke ordinance on and after November 15, which means that persons allowing soft coal smoke to escape into the outer air will be arrested and fined. When it became almost impossible to procure anthracite, some time ago, the authorities ceased prosecuting offenders against the smoke ordinance. They recognized that the using of bituminous coal was unavoidable if there were to be any fires at all for manufacturing, cooking or heating purposes, and that it would be persecution to punish those who were compelled to use the unaccustomed fuel; but, as the mayor said in his proclamation of today, hard coal is now coming to market with considerable freedom, and there is no reason for anyone to use bituminous coal if he is willing to take a little trouble to purchase the other kind. New York city is in a dreadfully smoky state. Pittsburghers coming into the city by any of the railroads which end in Jersey City notice, as they cross the North river to Manhattan, that the skyline, which used to stand forth cleancut and distinct, is absolutely lost in rolling clouds of black smoke. It is worse than the downtown district of Pittsburgh on a heavy day, because in New York it extends nearly the whole length of the city. The tops of the skyscrapers are lost in the smoke, and one cannot make out the shore line when one is only a few hundred yards out in the river. So long as there was no way of preventing this, New Yorkers were not disposed to grumble; but now, when there is plenty of hard coal coming in, the feeling is that the abuse should be remedied. And it will be. Mayor Low's order will be followed implicitly and willingly from all indications.

Jury Must Decide Molineux's Fate.

Molineux will have to put in a defense, as everyone supposed. Ex-Gov. Black tried to get the court to dismiss the indictment but failed. Judge Lambert was not disposed to take upon his own shoulders the responsibility of setting Molineux free, and the jury may have to return a verdict of some kind. The court said he would not grant the dismissal at this time, which may be taken to mean that he may do it when he has heard all the evidence. The preponderance of opinion is that the jury will decide the question of Molineux's guilt or innocence, however.

Campaign Demand for Fireworks.

Fireworks manufacturers have been extraordinarily busy the last few days. Not only are they busy supplying ammunition for the pyrotechnical displays in New York, but they ship immense quantities of goods to other cities. Large centers like Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland, Philadelphia, with a host of smaller cities, such as Syracuse, Rochester, Lancaster and Harrisburg, are burning powder these nights, and most of their fireworks come from New York. Down in the fireworks district, which comprises Park place, Murray street, Vesey street and other streets in that neighborhood, men are working night and day, packing fireworks for shipment to all parts of the eastern states. This is a live political campaign in all the states concerned. Much of the fireworks shipped away will be used on election night, to celebrate victory by one side or the other.

The Allen's Place Again Raided.

Another raid was made on The Allen's place in Sixth avenue this afternoon. This is probably the thirtieth time people have broken into this or other houses occupied by Allen in the expectation of finding a poolroom in operation. The old man has always been too slick for the authorities, however, and it may be the same story this time. Allen himself is down with nervous prostration in a sanitarium, but he keeps his finger on the key of his business, wherever he may be. He chuckled dryly this evening when he heard that the police had been after him again. Although arrested numberless times, Allen has never been convicted, and he is proud of the fact.

Only the Tin Horn Lacking.

This town is ablaze tonight. It is "Odell night," but Tammany and the other Democrats are trying to make it a "Coler night," too. With three Republican mass meetingse and several gatherings of Democrats about the city, nothing but politics is talked about tonight. Even people who are not usually enthusiastic over a state campaign feel that they must be out this evening, and every meeting is tremendously attended. As for the red fire, the rockets, the music and all the sights, sound, smells and uproar of a political rally, they are so much in evidence that one might think a president of the United States were to be chosen on Tuesday next. The only element lacking which makes an election night hideous, is the tin horn. That instrument of torture is held back for Tuesday.

Forgotten Murder Sensation Revived.

Whether the wild-appearing fellow who says he murdered Albert C. Latimer is the real criminal or not, he has given New York something to talk about. It is not believed that he had anything to do with the murder, and the general impression is that he is insane. The principal effect of his "confession" is to bring vividly before the public mind a horrible crime which most persons here had comfortably forgotten.

Signs of the Approach of Election.

One could hardly get past the Hoffman and Fifth Avenue hotels early this evening. The political controversialists had spilled over to the sidewalk from the lobbies of the hotels, and some of them had even been forced into the gutter by the crowd. One of the interesting features of all the discussions overheard was that each side was confident of victory. Coler men figured up a landslide for him, presenting him with a plurality of 75,000 or so in the state, while one enthusiastic gentleman talked about 115,000 plurality for him in Greater New York. Odell followers, not to be behind, re-elected that gentleman by pluralities that ranged all the way from 70,000 to 150,000 in the state. All these things and more could be heard on the Broadway sidewalk, punctured by the gruff commands of policeman to "Keep the walk clear, gentlemen; keep it clear," and to which, by the way, no one paid any attention.

Devery's Way.

Big Bill Devery has his own way of meeting a man who says Devery owes him $65,000, or thereabouts. Devery says he is a liar; that's all.

Foghorn Voice Gets Owner in Trouble.

Many are the roads to fame. There is the "Well, well" man of the Polo grounds, for instance. He has been known for years, by his foghorn voice, in which he ejaculates "Well, well!" at intervals in nearly every match game of baseball played there when there is a particularly good or bad play. The Pittsburgh club is familiar with him, and every "rooter" that ever watched a game at the Polo grounds knows the voice. Sad to say, this public character, who is known to his family and friends as Frank Woods, was arraigned before a magistrate yesterday for disturbing a public meeting. Woods is something of a spellbinder, and he addressed a gathering of people too near to another orater for anyone to hear what the latter said. The "Well, well" man can drown any ordinary voice. He was discharged with a warning.

Catalogues Themselves Works of Art.

It has been the custom nowadays for catalogues of art sales to be prepared in luxurious form, so that they can be sold at a fair price. These catalogues usually contain a number of reproductions in steel plate of fine and famous pictures, and thus convey a faithful presentation of the articles to be sold by auction. One of the important art sales soon to take place in this city will be that of the collection of Mrs. S. D. Warren, who died in Boston lately. The collection includes a large number of oil paintings, water colors and pastels by celebrated masters of the Barbizon and contemporaneous French, early English, Dutch, Flemish and Italian schools, which were acquired by the late owner in 30 years. A catalogue de luxe is in course of preparation, the test of which will be printed on imperial Japanese vellum, while the illustrations will be photogravures. The sale will take place early in January.

Architectural Work on View.

Columbia university will come pleasantly into the public eye next week, when the exhibition of the work of the School of Architecture will be held. It will be in the galleries of the American Fine Arts society, in West Fifty-seventh street, not far from Carnegie Music hall, and will continue from Tuesday till Saturday. The work of alumni and undergraduates alike will be shown. There will be an alumni testimonial dinner to Prof. Ware, founder and present head of the school, to begin the exhibition. The show would have been held last May, but was postponed on account of Prof. Ware's illness.

Election Bonfires to Be Regulated.

Police Commissioner Partridge will take a hand in election day celebration. He has just issued an order that bonfires must not be built on asphalt pavements, or near fences, gates or cellar doors. This is a wise precaution, of course; but it will not prevent a great burning of tar barrels, the letting off of sky rockets and the big display of red fire that rightfully belongs to election night. Partridge likes to take a hand in celebrating himself, when the right ticket wins; but he does not want to triumph o'er the ruins of the city, and, therefore, he demands caution.

Flats Are Healthful.

While many persons from other cities that settle in New York are inclined to regret the house that they had to themselves in their own town and inveigh against living in a flat, it seems there are many arguments in favor of flat life, apart from the convenience of these little snuggeries. Talk to a sanitary engineer about it and hear what he says. He will tell you that there is much more danger of disease in a private house than in a modern flat; that the plumbing is better in the flat; that there are fewer bad smells in a flat, and that repairs are made more quickly in a flat than ever they are in a private house. All this is true and easily explained. There is a tenement house law in force in New York city which compels owners of apartment houses to take every possible care of the health and safety of their tenants. The house must be fireproof, must have fire-escapes, and must have the newest devices for heating and ventilating. This matter has been coming up prominently lately, and New Yorkers are more reconciled to living in flats than ever they were, and they have been a community of flat-dwellers or hotel guests for decades.

Only the Suburbs Will Suffer Tonight.

Halloween in New York is not so disorderly a festival in the streets as it is in smaller places. The average New York policeman will not brook what he calls "funny business" on his beat, and boys that knock at doors, upset ash cans or throw missiles into Chinese laundries are liable to get into the police station, or, at least, to receive a hard cuff from an official hand. In the suburbs, however, Halloween is made a season of terror to quiet people indoors, just as it is in the outskirts of Pittsburgh, and everybody will have his gate fastened securely and all loose articles taken indoors in readiness for a lively time tomorrow.

Flashlight Exposes a Scandal.

It is a common thing for theater managers to have flashlight photographs taken of big audiences, as an advertisement. Unfortunately this sometimes causes trouble. There is a case in Hoboken of this kind. A flashlight picture was taken of the interior of a theater there, and in one of the front rows of the parquet is shown the wife of a prominent citizen sitting in company with some man other than her husband. There will be a divorce suit, and the flashlight picture will play a prominent part in court. It has been often noticed, in flashlight pictures of this kind, that some of the audience will place their hand before their faces. This may be the reason—in Hoboken. Of course, it would not be necessary in any other city. GEORGE C. JENKS.

Crankier Than Before.

From the Chicago Tribune.

Now it came to pass that the reformers succeeded at last in having a portion of the earth set apart for them, where they could reorganize society on a basis that suited them. They had been minding their beautiful little Utopia for three years, when a stranger in search of information happened along.

"I presume," said the stranger, "you are all perfectly happy here, with your single tax, your initiative and referendum, your compulsory arbitration, your municipal ownership and all the rest of it?"

"No, not exactly," replied a tired looking citizen, with some reluctance. "We're organized on the right basis, and our plan of society is perfect, but somehow or other the people that live here are the darnedest, contrariest cranks you ever heard of!"

Cheer Up.

From the New York Herald.

The president has issued his Thanksgiving Day proclamation and November 27 is the date on which the country is to call to mind the manifold blessings that have been received and try to forget the unpleasant incidents that have come along with the good things of life.

Come, now, let's cheer up and be happy, that "good digestion may wait on appetite and health on both" when the day arrives that should be of sorrow only to the "national mind."

Count Boni's Pittance.

From the New York World.

By decree of court the Castellanes are compelled to live on $250,000 a year until their debts are paid. However, with this "handsome pittance" and his $11,000 overcoat, Count Boni may be able to pass the winter comfortably.

John U. Barr, an architect and builder, is dead at his home in Broad street, Wilkinsburg, in his 90th year. Mr. Barr was born in Baltimore, but came to this vicinity when young, settling in Allegheny. He built the old log cabin on the present site of the Ft. Wayne depot. In this building William Henry Harrison was entertained during his visit to Allegheny many years ago. Among other buildings he erected were: Allegheny market house, the old court house, the old markets of Pittsburgh, the present Third ward school, the old city poor house, the old county workhouse and the old court houses of Mercer, Kittanning, Washington and Butler counties. Mr. Barr was a member of North Side councils for 18 years. The deceased is survived by his widow, 10 grand-children and the following children: Mrs. Adeline Gribben of Columbus, Sylvanus L. Barr of Pittsburgh and John U. Barr of New York. The funeral will take place today from the home of his grand-children, Mrs. Harry C. Keller and Mrs. H. W. Morrison.

Will Be Buried Here.

The body of Charles A. Faris, the well-known Pittsburgher who died suddenly Wednesday night at the Sterling house, Wilkesbarre, will arrive in Pittsburgh this morning. Robert S. Faris and had been a life-long resident of Pittsburgh. His sudden end is mourned by a wide circle of friends. No arrangements for the funeral will be made until Mrs. Faris and Robert S. Faris arrive with the body. It is likely the funeral will be in charge of Wilkinsburg lodge, B. P. O. Elks, of which the deceased was a member. The Rev. Dr. Thomas Parry, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Faris had been a member, will conduct the funeral services.

Chilled the "Aunties."

From the Philadelphia Press.

The anti-imperialists of Boston must have had a chill when they heard Senator Hoar declare in his speech: "I for one, congratulate the American people on the great duties that are before them. I find courage and help and strength and growth and life and success, not weakness and poverty and ruin and failure, even in the dangers we have to meet."

Confidence in Roosevelt.

From the New York Press.

There can be no doubt that the American voters are in the heartiest sympathy with President Roosevelt in his "trust" program and his general policy. There can be no doubt that they are relying upon him to accomplish much that the people demanded shall be accomplished in the next two years.

Not a Time for Compliments.

From the Buffalo Commercial.

The Republicans will have a safe working majority in the next congress in all probability; but they cannot afford to take the risk of casting any complimentary votes for Democratic candidates.

Shop Foreman Promoted.

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—It is officially announced that Joseph E. Davis, general foreman of the Altoona machine shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for 20 years, has been promoted to the position of master mechanic of the company's shops at Harrisburg. W. B. Norris, general foreman of the West Philadelphia shops, is announced as Davis' successor.

DREAMED WHERE TO FIND HIS CASH

Foreman Lost His Pocketbook, but Had a Vision in the Night.

HAD Joseph Finley, the foreman of plant No. 2 of the Consolidated Ice Company, believed in the old adage that "dreams go by contrary," he would be minus his roll of $125. Finley lost the roll early this week, and so vivid was the impression made on his mind by the loss that he not only thought of it waking, but that night in bed it recurred to him again while in his dreams. This is what Finley dreamed: That just 15 yards from the door, in a cold storage chamber, wedged in between some cakes of ice, his pocketbook lay, with one corner of a cake nipping the corner of his pocketbook. Thrice before morning he dreamed it again, and so when he arose he swallowed a cup of coffee and hurried to the ice plant. He bowled over a negro laborer in his haste, vaulted upon the cakes of ice, reached down under the identical piece he had been in his dream and felt his pocketbook. It was nipped by the cake of ice, all right enough, for he could not pull it out.

He went back to where the negro laborer stood, rubbing his skull, which had struck the floor as Finley upset him. "Go back to those chunks of ice, Joe," said Finley, "and under that one"—pointing out the one that bore down on the pocketbook—"you will find something. Bring it to me. The negro obeyed. Finley keeping close behind him. The colored man removed the cake of ice, picked up the pocketbook, and almost fell over when Finley opened it and drew out the bills, $125 of them.

"You could have roped Joe's eyes with a blanket, they stuck out so far," said Finley when he told the story to the boss.

* * *

AN interesting story is being told by residents of Brushton, showing the shrewdness of a colored man who resides in that ward who was never known to do a full day's work.

A Penn township farmer brought several dressed hogs to market. He met with fair sale in Wilkinsburg, and having one large dressed carcass in his wagon drove into Brushton.

The farmer was met by the colored man who promptly bought the dressed dog and agreed to pay the full amount asked by the farmer. After giving the man explicit directions where to take the pork the colored man disappeared. He went directly home, chased all the members of his family to the neighbors and got in bed in a back room on the first floor. The The farmer drove up and knocked at the door.

"Does Mr. Joles live here?" he inquired.

"Yes, this is his house," was the response, in a weak voice.

"Well, I have a dressed hog for him."

"All right, just lay it on that table," and the farmer obeyed.

"Where do I get my money?" asked the farmer.

"Oh, that'll be all right," came the reply. Mr. Joles will be home presently and he'll pay you. I have the smallpox and can't get out of bed."

The farmer never asked any more questions

WIN STRONGHOLD OF DEMOCRACY

Next Governor Is Enthusiastically Received at Capital of Berks.

ILLNESS DETAINS BROWN

Congressmen Morrell and Adams and District Attorney Shaffer Aid Judge Pennypacker With Their Eloquence.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
READING, PA., Oct. 30.—The Republican gubernatorial candidate, ex-Judge Pennypacker, accompanied by Congressmen Robert Adams and Edward Morrell, tonight invaded the Democratic stronghold of Berks and met the voters of Reading and vicinity. Ex-Senator Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor, was unable to be present owing to illness which confined him to his room at the Walton in Philadelphia.

On the arrival of the gubernatorial party the members were met by a committee of distinguished citizens, among whom were Gen. D. McM. Gregg, the veteran lieutenant of Phil Sheridan; Gen. Simon Snyder, Jonathan G. Leinbach, William Kerper Stevens, A. M. High, Earle I. Koch, William Rick, George W. Lillman and Thomas C. Zimmerman.

On his arrival at the hotel the candidate was given a cheer and after supper he was given a rousing reception at the hotel, at which hundreds of Republicans pressed forward to press the hand of the next governor of Pennsylvania.

On his arrival at the Academy of Music, Judge Pennypacker was vociferously cheered by the great audience, which filled the auditorium and stage. The meeting was presided over by William Rick, who expressed gratification over such a large and enthusiastic audience in such a strong Democratic district.

Judge Pennypacker was applauded over and over, as he forcefully presented the importance of the Republican party maintaining the principles of Republicanism and the protective policy of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt, by electing a congressman in sympathy with those principles.

Great applause also was given to eloquent speeches of Congressmen Morrell and Adams and ex-District Attorney Shaffer, and the meeting closed with three rousing Republican cheers.

The candidates tomorrow will meet the voters of Lebanon.

THRONGS GREET PENROSE.

Largest Demonstration in Years Held in Bedford County.

BEDFORD, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Senator Penrose and Thomas V. Cooper of Media, spoke here tonight. The meeting was one of the most imposing ever witnessed in the county. Delegations were in attendance from all parts of the county, large crowds arriving on special trains, in carriages and wagons, on horseback and afoot.

Veteran associations from Everett and Bedford took part in the parade, which was one of the largest ever seen in this county. The court house was unable to accommodate the throng and a second meeting was held in the town hall. Senator Penrose and Mr. Cooper addressed both meetings.

A CAMPAIGN OF SHOE EDUCATION.
With Buzz-Saw and "Window of the Sole" the Regal Proves Its Merit.

A "campaign of education" is in progress in the Regal shoe store at 122 Wood street, and in all the other Regal stores from London to San Francisco, the principal instructor being a savage-looking 20-inch buzz-saw, which cuts up shoes in the Regal show windows.

The Regal people use genuine old fashioned oak bark tanned leather in the soles of their shoes. Oak sole leather has advanced in price in recent years, so that it has not been in general use among shoe manufacturers. The Regal Shoe Company has stuck to it, however, believing that the standard of the Regal should be maintained in spite of expense. The extra cost because of the use of oak sole leather in the Regal factory amounts to several hundred dollars per day.

All shoe soles are painted black, and as a leather man himself cannot choose oak tanned from the cheaper grades through the black coating, the Regal people have devised two methods of "education." The first is the buzz-saw, which rips apart all kinds of shoes and lays bare their material and construction. The second is the "Window of the Sole," which is a seal pasted on the Regal sole before the black paint is applied. The edge of the seal can be lifted up and the buyer can see for himself that the sole is genuine oak bark tanned.

The wonderful popularity of the Regal shoe is not hard to understand when the manufacturers will go to such expense and trouble to convince consumers of the merits of their goods.

DEMOCRATS SEEK CONNELL'S SCALP

They Will Not Be Able to Reach It, as He Will Run Ahead of Ticket.

WAYNE TO BE REDEEMED

Pattison, Nolan and Stranahan Repeat the Familiar Tale of Woe to Honesdale and Scranton Audiences.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 30.—The Democratic state machine is desirous of capturing this congressional district. Every effort is being made to defeat the re-election of Congressman William Connell. This has been attempted before, but the old man has weathered the storm. He is confident that this fall he can add to his victories. It is believed that he will be returned to congress, even though Lackawanna should return a slight majority for Robert E. Pattison.

The Democrats covered Lackawanna and Wayne counties today. From Allentown to Honesdale is a long jump, but it was made by Pattison, and from the county seat of Wayne he came here to address a large meeting tonight. He is under the same roof with the strike commission. The would-be governor and the men who hope to satisfy operator and miner did not meet.

There is every indication that Wayne will return to the Republican column this fall. Honesdale is the home of Auditor General E. B. Hardenbergh. He was there today, looking after the closing details of the campaign, and called upon Pattison and Nolan, but is working hard to do his share to defeat them. For some years the independents have joined with the Democrats in state fight and Republican tickets have been defeated. This fall the party is united and Hardenbergh is sanguine that Pennypacker will be given a plurality and that a Republican senator and two members of the house will be elected.

Honesdale is so far off the beaten path that anything which tends to break the monotony is hailed as a relief. The coming of Pattison and his party was an event, and a good crowd turned out. The governor, James Nolan and James A. Stranahan told of their sorrows, begged their votes, and flitted to Scranton.

There was an audience of 2,000 people here to listen to a tale of woe. The old, old stories were re-told.

The contest in Lackawanna is interesting. This county is erratic. There is some question as to where it will land this fall in the gubernatorial election. Connell and his friends are making a good fight. He will get votes that will not be cast for the head of the ticket. His opponent is George Howell, a Welsh Democrat. There is a large Welsh vote here, and while most men of that nationality are Republicans they are clannish, and inclinations are that Howell will receive the support of most of them. The Irish will stand by Connell, and so will the major portion of the German population.

Republicans say the Socialists are not strong in the county, while the Democrats are of the opposite opinion, but admit that a Socialist vote means a loss to the Democrats. Republicans are claiming the four members of the house, but are doubtful of electing the senator. The district is strongly Democratic and was carried by the late Senator J. C. Vaughan because he had vote-getting qualities no other Republican in the district ever possessed.

Pattison, Guthrie and ex-Judge James G. Gordon will appear on the same platform in Philadelphia tomorrow night. The next day Pattison closes the campaign in Wilkesbarre.

AN EAST END RALLY.

Methodist Missionary Workers Hear of the Cleveland Convention.

A rally of missionary workers was held in the Emory Methodist Episcopal church last night. The Rev. T. J. Boyle and the Rev. T. J. Leak told of the great work reported at the Cleveland convention.

The Rev. J. C. Taylor, secretary of the missionary society in New England, urged the mission workers not to stop on account of the amount contributed, but to keep up the work so that the gospel might be carried into all foreign lands. Representatives of the Epworth league societies in Pittsburgh attended.

WILD CLAIMS FOR GRIMES' PARTY

Muddy Water Prophet Undertakes a Forecast That Others Will Believe.

EEFORTS OF CAST-OFFS

Followers of Flinn Having Been Discarded by Great Body of Republicans Make One Last Struggle.

W. J. Burke, formerly a railroad conductor, now a wealthy oil man and one of the promoters of the Ballot Reform party, was in professing mood yesterday and ventured to tell of the probable vote the Ballot Reform, or the "muddy water" party will poll.

"We will poll from 8,000 to 9,000 voes," said Burke. "Nearly all these votes will come from the ranks of organized workingmen. The Twenty-third ward, which is largely peopled by railroad men, will be strong for the Ballot Reform party."

Burke said this in a way that leaves no room to doubt that he believes all he says. The fact is not lost sight of that those for whose benefit the "muddy water" party was brought into being are men who have been discarded by the great body of the Republican voters of Allegheny county because of their disgraceful machine methods, nor is the fact likely to be forgotten that their attitude in the present campaign precludes their ever again posing as Republicans.

Selfish Aims of Machine Men.

These followers of William Flinn, while talking grandiloquently of the need of "ballot reform" are actuated by their own aggrandizement and their personal need of a further lease on the offices and the perquisites. Hoping to profit themselves, and caring nothing for party, they urge the cutting of Pennypacker and the voting for Pattison under the plea of ballot reform.

Burke's estimate is considered excessive by the Citizens party. It is admitted that the ballot reform party may get some votes, but they will all come from the ring Democratic wards and from the machine payroll. A large portion of the payroll is, however, expected to refuse to obey the orders of the machine managers and vote for Pennypacker.

Burke Is a Democrat.

"I am a Democrat," Mr. Burke said. "But I would like to see the candidates on the Republican county ticket elected, even if Pattison should be defeated. We want the legislature to pass an employers' liability bill, and the men on that ticket are pledged to vote for such a bill."

James W. Clark, secretary of the Citizens party's executive committee, said yesterday that returns from the poll taken in the country districts, indicated that the Citizens party would carry them by a two to one vote. The ring managers generally concede Pittsburgh to the Citizens party by a majority ranging from 5,000 to 10,000, and the Citizens expect to carry Allegheny by from 6,000 to 10,000.

M. M. Garland, surveyor of the port and former president of the Amalgamated association, yesterday sent out the following letter:

Garland's Vigorous Rejoiner.

I notice a pamphlet has been issued by the so-called Ballot Reform party, in which they call the attention of "tin workers" to one of their numerous statements, in which they declare that Senator Quay was responsible for the rebate clause in the Dingley tariff bill.

The facts are that each and all tariff bills since the time of Hamilton to the present have contained this same general rebate provision, and it applied to every article of manufacture long before tin plate making began in this country. It was one of the features of the Democratic tariff bills fostered by the party of R. E. Pattison, the head of the Ballot Reform party, who made impossible the making of tin plate in this country. The tin plate workers know this and they are also aware of the fact that Senator Quay forced a compromise in the Democratic Wilson-Gorman tariff bill of 1894, when the party at the head of this Ballot Reform ticket had attempted to strangle tin plate making.

My reason for referring to it is not so much to set the minds of the tin plate workers right, as it is to say that when such brazen misrepresentation is contained in a pamphlet issued by these people, does it not intimate, if not prove, that the whole matter is made of fabrication.

BLUE ELEVEN IS READY TO MEET WEST POINT TEAM

YALE'S ELEVEN TO MEET WEST POINT

Blue Team Is Ready for a Hard Struggle With the Soldiers.

CORNELL VS. TIGERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 30.—For a 20-minute half the varsity eleven was given a gruelling line-up against the scrubs today. Then substitutes were sent against the second team. Josh Hartwell, the veteran end, took charge of Shevlin and Wilhelmi, who are now being consistently played at end. Midget Benham, a 110-pound lad, was pitted against Wilhelmi, and today skillfully put the big end out of the play four times. The grandstand spectators applauded the midget heartily and Wilhelmi grew very angry. The varsity worked its formation plays and swept the scrubs from the field for two touchdowns.

This is the last scrimmaging before the West Point game. Tomorrow signal drill will be taken and the team will leave for New York. It played today, and will line up against West Point as follows: Left end, Wilhelmi; left tackle, Kinney; left guard, Glass; center, Holt; right guard, Goss; right tackle, Hogan; right end, Shevlin; quarter back, Metcalf; left half back, Capt. Chadwick; right half back, Ward; full back, Farmer.

Tigers Again Defeated by Scrubs.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Princeton held her last hard practice today preparatory to meeting Cornell Saturday. Tomorrow the men will have only light work to do, and the finishing touches put on the team. The practice game was anything but encouraging. Again the scrubs beat the 'varsity in a struggle of 20-minute halves, and took the ball from them several times on downs. The fumbling of the first eleven was very bad. Veiterlein being the chief offender, and it was due to him that the scrubs scored. The 'varsity had only one opportunity to score. They had the ball two feet from the scrubs' goal in the first half and were unable to advance it any farther, the second eleven taking it on downs and kicking out of danger.

The work of Keith, the scrub quarter back, was again the feature of the practice. He did some remarkable hurdling, and his good work is the more surprising on account of his size. His one fault is in receiving punts, at which he is very uncertain.

Harvard's Poor Showing.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Harvard practice today was very slow and wearisome, and at the conclusion the coaches expressed themselves greatly dissatisfied at the showing made by the 'varsity. Of course there was no great attempt, as the men of prowess are saving themselves for Saturday's big game. Harrison, with a cut eyebrow, was put out of the game, so that he can play Carlisle. Line men and backs were both guilty of playing too high, and were fatally slow. Frye, the crack freshman guard, broke his leg during the scrimmage. Great 'varsity hopes were based on him.

Penny Held Secret Practice.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The practice today on Franklin field, while secret, was watched by a selected few and was exceedingly interesting. Coach Williams was ably assisted by Hedges, Bull, Wharton, Vail, "Ev" Dickson, and even "Jack" Minds came out while the scrubs lined up against the 'varsity and helped point out the defects in the formations as they were run off. Capt. Gardiner was in football togs, but wisely refrained from taking part in any of the plays. Dull was in his old position and appeared none the worse for his enforced rest.

Cornell Starts for Princeton.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Cornell's football team, composed of 22 men, trained to the very utmost endeavor, left tonight for New Jersey to enter the biggest game of the year, in which the red and white participate. The team was accompanied by 400 students. Cornell's coaches do not express any great confidence that their men will win from Princeton, although the Cornell team has improved both in aggressive and defensive playing during the last week.

WASH-JEFF'S TOUGH LUCK

Team Crippled and Buffalo Eleven Canceled the Saturday Game.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Hard luck has struck the Washington and Jefferson football team. The prospects are dark for a game Saturday and still darker for the local team winning if one is played. The Buffalo university management has cancelled the game scheduled for Saturday. They telegraphed last night that their men were nearly all on the hospital list and a game was out of the question. Now Manager Craig is hunting for a team to fill the date. He has opened negotiations with Pittsburgh college and Grove City college. The worst blow that has befallen the local team is the loss of Fullback Burns. He has left college for good and the team will have to depend on Prowitt, a last year's substitute.

Some of the biggest games of the schedule are yet to be played, including State, Bucknell, Cornell and West Virginia, and the coach and management are making frantic efforts to get the team into playing shape.

BESTED MAHER AGAIN.

Jack O'Brien Gave the Irish Champion Another Severe Drubbing.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Peter Maher, the much heralded Irish champion pugilist, received another severe drubbing at the hands of Jack O'Brien, the middle and heavyweight champion of England. The contest went the limit of six rounds and was fast from start to finish.

O'Brien went down in the first round partly from a short arm jolt and a trip, but did not take the count. He subsequently staggered Maher with left hand jabs and right hand swings and the latter was badly cut up at the finish. The Irishman succeeded in opening an old wound over O'Brien's eye from which the blood trickled and which in a measure handicapped the champion.

Pennsy Beat Normal Reserves.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Punxsutawney defeated the Indiana Normal reserves by a score of 18 to 0 in an interesting game here today. The teams were evenly matched, but the fast work of the locals was too much for the Normal boys. Feature of the game was the playing of Knarr and S. Smith for the locals.

PREPARING FOR THE BIG GAME.

Coach Lalus Giving the High School Team Its Final Practice Yesterday.

SHADYSIDE IS READY FOR HIGH SCHOOL

The Big Game of the Interscholastic Schedule Will Be Played Today.

The big game of the whole interscholastic schedule takes place today out at Friendshippark. The Shadyside academy and High school football teams meet for the first and only game of the season. And there are great promises of a very hot battle all the way through. There is confidence galore in the camp of each.

Both teams will present their strongest line-up for the game. Shadyside has not been handicapped all season by any injuries to players, and while High school has lost her full strength in but one game, all cripples will be in shape for the game today. Both teams average about 150 pounds, and are unusually strong for school teams. Shadyside beat W. U. P. two years ago with a team no stronger than this season's.

Edwin P. Young of Cornell and Mr. Arthur Poe of Princeton will be the officials for the contest. A large crowd will turn out, and ample facilities are at the park to accommodate all. The records of the two teams are as follows:

S. S. A. 48, E. L. A. 0; S. S. A. 5, California normal 0; S. S. A. 0, All Stars 0; S. S. A. 51, Kiski; S. S. A. 50, E. L. A. 0; S. S. A. 38, Eld. Ridge 0; P. H. S. 22, Melvin A. C. 0; P. H. S. 47, S. Today's line-up follows:

STARS HARD AT WORK.

They Are Getting Ready for the Election Day Game With Philadelphia's Team.

The Pittsburgh football team had a stiff practice at Greensburg yesterday in preparation for the game with Philadelphia at Coliseum park next Tuesday. Straight football will be used against the Philadelphians and if Pittsburgh wing it will be strictly on the merits of the teams. The line-up has not yet been decided on and the men are all working for a chance to show their mettle against the big team from the east.

Lawler was in uniform and got into every play. Kerkhoff followed the practice through two hours and says the new plays and formations work well. Ellis has learned the signals thoroughly and Philadelphia will find some one to stop who is even better than Roller.

It has been rumored that Poe may play with Pittsburgh and the players are anxious to know whether he will or not. In getting down the field on punts, Poe is the best that ever played and if Poe plays Pittsburgh rooters may rest assured that there will be no kicks run back.

CUP FOR BOSTON.

Culture City Women Golfers Won from New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The women's team from Boston won the tri-city golf championship at Baltusrol today by defeating the New York team, 51 holes to 18. The victory entitles them to the Clement A. Griscom cup for the ensuing year.

The surprise of the day came in the defeat of Miss Ruth Underhill, who held the national championship in 1899, was beaten by 10 up—a result that did much to offset the good work of her companions on the home side. Miss Underhill was weak in pulling and lost heavily as a result.

Miss Fisher a Winner.

The women golfers at the Country club yesterday played an 18-hole handicap for the McClorg-Hays cup, to be won twice for possession. Miss Ida Fisher, with 20 strokes handicap, won, her net score being 120. The semi-final match on the Allegheny Country club course between Mrs. R. P. Nevin, Jr., and Miss Lucy Christy was postponed.

Haines Won McVay Cup.

W. H. Haines won the final 18-hole match on the Edgeworth course at Sewickley yesterday for the McVay cup, defeating David Hays by 2 up. They played on even terms.

May J. Was Thought an Also Ran, but Fooled the Talent.

JOCKEYS DUMPED

WON BY FLOCARLINE.

The Chicago Ridge Handicap Was an Exciting Race.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Flocarline, ridden by Coburn and backed from 2 to 5 and 7 to 5 at post time, won the Chicago Ridge handicap at Worth today in the good time of 1:40 2-5 for the mile. Gold Bell was second and Linguist, coupled with St. Minor, was third, all lapped at the wire. During the first half mile Flocarline appeared to be hopelessly beaten, and it was only by the most desperate riding that Coburn managed to get up in time to win by a nose. GETTING READY FOR THE HOCKEY SEASON

Meeting of Managers Was Held, But Action on Fourth Club Was Held Over.

At a meeting of the managers of the Western Pennsylvania Hockey league, held last night at Duquesne garden, it was decided to elect a fourth member to the league. The matter of selection of a fourth club and action upon referee, rules, schedule, organization, secretary and president were held over until the next meeting to be held upon November 2 at 3 o'clock.

The three applicants for membership are Homestead, Three A's of Allegheny and the Iroquois club of the East End. At last night's meeting it was decided that each club during the coming season should have but eight players. It was the sense of the discussion, however, that a club would be allowed to replace any member of its team with a new player at any time during the season.

This action, which has not yet been definitely taken, would mean the abolishing of the rules in force last year that all players should be in the city as residents, at the date of the opening game.

VERY TAME BOUT.

Charles Miller Given the Decision Over Jimmy Reeder.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The 15-round bout here tonight between Jimmy Reeder of Altoona and Charles Miller of Newbrighton before the Nonpareil Athletic club, was decided in favor of the latter. The affair was tame. Though Reeder showed that he could take punishment he did not show as clever work as Miller.

The preliminary, a bout of four rounds, between Frank Spencler of Beaver Falls and Billy O'Connor of New Brighton was quite tame.

SHAW WILL STICK TO PITTSBURGH PHIL.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 30.—Foreign engagements hold no allurements for Jockey Willie Shaw. He has just turned down a very flattering offer to ride in Russia next year and has signed with his old employer, Pittsburgh Phil Smith, for another season. Shaw did not know just whom the offer was from, but the terms named were liberal, and would have been very tempting to any boy who cared to join Cash Sloane, Joe Pigrott and Mitchell in the czar's country.

Shaw preferred to stay here, and as Pittsburgh Phil, the man who is responsible for Shaw's development, wanted his services, the matter was soon settled. Shaw's contract with James R. Keene expires with the close of the season and will not be renewed. He will go to California after the close of the Aqueduct meeting, and will ride for Green B. Morris during the season there. This will be Shaw's first trip to the coast.

ANOTHER DEFICIT, SAYS TORRENCE

City Treasurer Says There Will Be Another Hole This Year.

LARKIN IS HANDICAPPED

Excessive Bills from Several Departments Interfere With His Efforts to Secure Economy. Costly Quarantine Prolonged.

City Treasurer Torrence admits that the city of Pittsburgh will be compelled to face another big deficit in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year, despite all the watchfulness of Controller Larkin.

"The deficit last year was something like $800,000," said Treasurer Torrence yesterday. "We commenced to borrow money about December 1, but I am hoping we will not have to start as early this year. What the deficiency will amount to this year I cannot say definitely. The delinquent taxes have been coming in the last month and the delinquent tax collector is making extra efforts to add to the collections."

Controller Larkin, who has made special efforts to avoid a deficiency in the treasury, said that the practice of all the departments, particularly the public safety department, in making overcharges and presenting excessive bills, interfered greatly with his policy of economy.

"The greatest fault is found in the health bureau," said the controller. "We are continually sending back bills to the bureau of health for correction and reduction. We have complained about bills presented for supplies for persons in houses which the health bureau places under quarantine. We allow, on an average, about 50 cents a day to every person in a quarantined house, but the bill presented is often in excess of this amount. We simply refuse to pay such bills and send them back to the director of public safety.

"We have discovered that the quarantine is often kept up for an unnecessary length of time. There is less complaint about the department of public works and charities because most of the supplies for these departments are under contract, although the bills are sometimes excessive. The bill presented by the consulting engineers in the examination of the old South Tenth street bridge is a case in point."

The bill of Swensson, Morse & Miller, calling for $750 for the examination of the South Tenth street bridge was held up by Controller Larkin and has been sent back to Director McCandless by common council. Director McCandless said he would ask the engineers to cut down their bill.

Emil Swensson, one of the engineers, said that the matter had been mentioned to him by Director McCandless, but that the director had not asked him to cut down his bill. "It is not a question of how many days were employed on the work," said Mr. Swensson. "We did not charge for so many days, but for our experience and knowledge."

HALLOWEEN ORDERS ISSUED TO POLICE

Markers Are to Be Kept Under Tight Rein and Offenders Arrested.

Police Superintendent McAleese yesterday issued stringent orders to Inspector Whl of the downtown district, in relation to Halloween.

Will is to notify police officers who report regularly at 9 o'clock for night duty to report Friday evening at 7 o'clock, also all 6 and 7 o'clock day men to report at 7 o'clock for additional service during the evening. He will place at least 100 police officers from Smithfield street and Fifth avenue to Market street and Fifth avenue and along Smithfield street. The order says:

"To avoid an experience such as called forth the adverse criticism of the newspapers and public generally as to the indecent hilarity and conduct on last Halloween, it is suggested to thoughtful and respectable women that it would be wise on their part to remain off Fifth avenue, Smithfield, Market and Wood street, lest in arresting the real offenders, innocent persons, who have been assaulted, might be taken as wanton participants.

"No excuse will be taken by the officers on duty for any unseemly or indecent conduct on the part of either sex, and to aid and assist the patrolmen extra patrol wagons will be stationed permanently at the corners of Wood street and Fifth avenue and Fifth avenue and Smithfield street and Fifth avenue.

"A squad of eight horsemen in command of an officer will be held in reserve at Central station and will be called out if necessary to preserve peace and good order and clear the streets.

"Orders are given to arrest all parties masquerading as members of the opposite sex, and all who interfere in any way with people on the pavements, especially men who are masked and insult or take liberties with women and girls in crowded places. All persons who may take part in the festivities must keep off the streets and no one wearing a mask will be allowed on the sidewalks."

MILES' IDEAS HELD BACK.

Is Suspected the Secretary of War Is Suppressing Report Because of Policy Disagreement.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Considerable comment has been caused in Washington by the delay in the publication of the report of Lieutenant General Miles. It has been in Secretary Root's hands for several weeks, but has not yet made it public.

It is rather eagerly looked for by many officers because it is known that Gen. Miles strongly expresses his views on the proposed general staff bill, to which he is bitterly opposed. Secretary Root always has advocated this measure, and it was Gen. Miles' plain-spoken comment before the senate committee on military affairs which widened the breach between Mr. Root and the lieutenant general.

Another point on which the secretary of war and Gen. Miles differ is the canteen. It is believed that Secretary Root will make recommendations to congress advocating the re-establishment of the canteen. Gen. Miles believes—and, it is believed, states in his report—that abolition of the canteen has contributed to inefficiency and discipline of the army. The secretary of war is not obliged to make public the report of the commanding general unless he so desires.

"TAPS" WAS SOUNDED OVER COL. SMITH

Last Sad Honors Paid to Former Commander of the Eighteenth.

With military honors the remains of Col. Norman M. Smith were laid to rest in the Allegheny cemetery shortly after 5 o'clock last night. The funeral services, which were held from the Calvary Episcopal church, Station street and Penn avenue, East End, at 3:30 o'clock, were largely attended.

At the house, Beechwood boulevard and Fifth avenue, the Rev. Dr. J. H. McIlvaine, rector of the Calvary Protestant Episcopal church, made a short prayer before the funeral party departed for the church.

The honorary pall bearers were: Col. Chambers McKibbin, the Rev. Dr. Matthew A. Riddle and Col. B. F. Jennings of the Loyal Legion; Gen. John A. Wiley, Col. Frank I. Rutledge and Lieut.-Col. J. Conrad Kay of the national guard of Pennsylvania; Col. John P. Penney and Capt. Harry F. Davis from the Eighteenth Regiment Veteran corps; and Maj. Samuel W. Hay, Capt. Thomas F. Maple, Capt. Orin F. Head and James Blackstone from the G. A. R.

The active pall bearers were: Quartermaster Sergeant Biggam, Sergeant John J. Sullivan, Company L; William T. Hunter, Company M, Sergeant Major Simpson, Commissary Sergeant William Blair, Sergeant Dillon, Sergeant Carnes, Company E, and Sergeant Johnston of Company I, Eighteenth regiment.

At the door of the church the pall bearers were met by the Rev. Dr. McIlvaine and his assistant, the Rev. David L. Ferris, who preceded the party to the church altar. Following immediately behind the casket came the relatives and friends of the deceased.

Then came the honorary pall bearers, members of the Loyal Legion and about 20 officers of the national guard of Pennsylvania in uniform. The N. G. P. officers were followed by members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The services at the church were simple and short, only the regular Episcopal service for the dead being carried out. A number of prayers were offered and two hymns, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Nearer, My God, to Thee", were sung by the church choir.

The casket was heavily draped with a large American flag and numerous floral offerings filled the end of the church where the body of Col. Smith rested. Among the floral pieces was a large flowered monogram of the Duquesne Grays and a keystone, surcharged on a medallion from the Eighteenth regiment.

At the Allegheny cemetery the funeral cortege was met by the firing squad of 10 from Company F, Eighteenth regiment, Col. Smith's former command. After the casket was lowered into the grave three volleys were fired and the bugler sounded taps.

ONE MAN DROWNED.

The Towboat Cadet Ran Down Three Men in a Skiff—M. A. Bowles Drowned.

Capt. A. F. Moore, master of the towboat Cadet, yesterday reported to the United States local steamboat inspectors that Wednesday night his boat struck a skiff containing three men, on the Monongahela river at Coal Valley station, and that M. A. Bowles was drowned.

Capt. Moore states that Bowles, J. K. Lee and James Savil started to row out from shore and although the Cadet whistled to warn them away, the men paid no attention to the signal. The captain, who was at the pilot wheel, signalled the engineer to stop the boat, but the men in the skiff kept on rowing.

The crew of the boat rescued Lee and Savil, who told the captain that Bowles did not wish to cross the river when they saw the Cadet coming, but the others insisted, saying they could row across before the boat would overtake them. Bowles resided at Glassport and is survived by his widow, who is in delicate health. The body has not been recovered.

Rev. Rodgers Is Called.

The Rev. David B. Rodgers, of the Pittsburgh presbytery, has received a call to the Presbyterian church at Castle Shanon, on a salary of $1,200 a year. He will accept and commence work at once. Mr. Rodgers is a native of West Virginia, and a graduate of Washington and Jefferson college and of the Western Theological seminary. He had pastorates at Fairchance, Laurel Hill, New Comestown, O., and served two or three churches in Philadelphia. He has been residing in Canonsburg for some time without a charge, but supplying the church at Millers Run.

Was Wounded in Jail.

After completing a term of nine months in the workhouse and preparing to leave, Harry Berry, of the East End, was arrested by Alderman Means of the East End, charged with felonious assault. He was taken to the jail. Charles Wolf, of the East End, who was released from the workhouse with Barry yesterday, alleges that in prison on October 4, Barry quarreled with him and cut him with a knife.

COL. ROBERT C. CLOWRY, who began life as a telegraph messenger boy, advanced to the position of President of the Western Union Telegraph Co., at a salary identical with that of the President of the United States. Col. Clowry never had the advantage of a college education. The necessity of earning his living while yet a boy allowed no opportunity for a college training. His circumstances in those early days were similar to those of thousands of young men and women in Pittsburgh today, who are busy making a living instead of going to college. But young Clowry did more than simply earn his living. He devoted his spare time to self-improvement and the habit of home study then formed, steadily continued during the years he has been mounting upward. Men and women, clerks, bookkeepers, stenographers, workers in all callings of life, is not the lesson a plain and practical one? If you want to make substantial progress you must build now for the future by giving your spare time to self-improvement.

SOCIETY

THE first entertainment of the season for the debutantes was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. William H. Cassidy and her daughter, Miss Ella Cassidy, at their home in St. James street, Shadyside. The guests included the debutantes of last season and those who will appear this winter. Miss Cassidy was a debutante of last winter, but as the family was in mourning Mrs. Cassidy gave nothing for her, and made her debut at the New Year reception given by Judge and Mrs. Joseph Buffington at the Twentieth Century club. The luncheon yesterday afternoon was a very enjoyable one, and covers were laid for 37. The three round tables were decorated with large yellow chrysanthemums. The decorations were all in yellow and were exceedingly pretty. Invitations were issued for 40, all the debutantes of the two seasons, but several of the girls are out of town.

The guests at the luncheon were Miss Alice Brown, Miss Rachel Miller, Miss Elsie Metcalf, Miss Beatrice Hawkins, Miss Gertrude Childs, Miss Louise Kay, the Misses Donnelly, Miss Ethel Byram, Miss Florence Murdock, Miss Emily Moorhead, Miss Katherine McCook, Miss Jane Peebles, Miss Alberta Harper, Miss Stella Dunbar, Miss Alice Pennock, Miss Lois Miller, Miss Marguerite Johnson, Miss Margaret Johnston, Miss Ethel Cassidy, Miss Louise Magee, Miss Rebecca Jennings and her visiting friend, Miss Elizabeth Bargeley; Miss Anne Burgwin, Miss Emma Hombird, Miss Jeannette Lupton, Miss Elizabeth Marshall, Miss Elizabeth Sellers, Miss Francis Latshaw, Miss Lloyd, Miss Margaret Scully, Miss Marie McKelvy and Miss Marjory Maxwell.

Humbird—Longenecker.

A beautiful home wedding took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Humbird in Morewood avenue, Shadyside. The bride was their eldest daughter, Miss Grace Chambers Humbird, and the bridegroom, Ralph Longenecker, formerly of Bedford, Pa., but now a young attorney in Pittsburgh. The marriage was conducted with simple dignity, the house being tastefully decorated for the occasion, and the wedding company included the personal friends and members of the two families. The hour was 8:30 o'clock and the ceremony was performed y the Rev. Dr. Henry D. McClelland of the Bellefield Presbyterian church. Stately palms were grouped in the drawing room and smilax was wreathed around the staircase of the reception hall. The mantels were banked with small maidenhair ferns. The flowers in the lower rooms were white roses and chrysanthemums, white and green being the color scheme throughout the first floor. On the second floor pink roses predominated with a lighter and more delicate arrangement of green. The bride's table was placed in the library on the second floor and was decorated with a large centerpiece of pink bridesmaid roses with pink shaded candles and dainty favors.

The bride chose for her attendants her three younger sisters, Miss Eleanor Humbird being the maid of honor, and Miss Emma Humbird and Miss Anica Humbird, the two bridesmaids. Russell Longenecker, of Bedford, Pa., a brother of the groom, was the best man and there were four ushers, Charles Longenecker of Bedford, another brother of the groom; John C. Humbird, a brother of the bride; Southard Hay and Kirby Scott. The bride was given away by her father. She wore a wedding gown of white chiffon with tucked skirt and trimmed with lace, a bridal veil of white tulle and carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses, lilies of the valley and maidenhair ferns. The maid of honor was gowned in white grenadine trimmed with lace, while the gowns of the bridesmaids were white mousseline de soie over white silk. They were elaborately tucked in the prevailing mode. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of pink roses and the maid of honor white roses.

The wedding was followed by an informal reception and supper, Mr. and Mrs. Longenecker leaving soon after for a wedding trip extending over three weeks, and on their return will be at home in Morewood avenue, Shadyside. The bride is a graduate of the Ogontz school. Mr. Longenecker is a Yale man.

Entertaining the Bridal Party.

The wedding of Miss Alice Blair Painter, Mr. and Mrs. Park Painter's second daughter, and Burrows Sloan of Philadelphia, next Tuesday in Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, will be preceded by several handsome social affairs for the bridal party. On Monday Mrs. A. E. W. Painter, an aunt of the bride-elect, will give a luncheon at her home in Irwin avenue, Allegheny. On Monday evening following the wedding rehearsal, Miss Marion Chambers, the maid of honor, will give a dinner for the bridal party at the Pittsburgh club. Two of the girls who will attend the bride, are from the east, the rest being Allegheny girls. The best man and ushers, however, are all out-of-town men. Mrs. Park Painter and her daughter will entertain Mrs. Nelson Perin of Baltimore and Miss Olive Pardee of Germantown. Miss Frances D. Sloan of Philadelphia, a sister of the groom, will be the house guest of Miss Edna Johnson.

The bridal party includes Miss Marion Chambers, the maid of honor and eight bridesmaids, Mrs. Hartley Howard of Ardmore, Pa., Miss Eleanor Painter and Miss Gladys Painter, sisters of the bride-elect; Miss Frances D. Sloan of Philadelphia; Miss Martha Dalzell, Miss Alice Walton, Miss Edna Johnson and Miss Olive Pardee of Germantown. John W. Converse will be the best man and the ushers are to be Harry C. Potter, Jr., H. Howard Ellison, Lewis H. Van Dusen and Francis King Wainwright of Philadelphia, J. H. L. Roy Pilkin of Englewood, Samuel Martin of Chicago, Edward Clark of Dayton, O., and Samuel Loose of Baltimore.

Cartwright-Teets.

Miss Louise Del Mar Cartwright and William Teets, Jr., were married at the home of the bride's parents, Irwin avenue, Allegheny, last evening, by the Rev. J. M. Thoburn, Jr., pastor of the Calvary Methodist church. The bride was attended by Miss Helen Clare McElhaney, as maid of honor; Master Sidney King Cartwright, as ring bearer, and Misses Dorothy and Margaret Dunlap, nieces of the bride, as flower girls. Henry Alward Cartwright, the bride's brother, was best man, and Robert and Edward Cartwright were ushers. After the ceremony, which was witnessed by a large number of friends and relatives, supper was served. At the bridal table covers were laid for eight, including the bridal party and the bride's sister and Ralph B. Montgomery, whose marriage took place in July. The center piece was of pink roses and candelebra, with pink candles and shades were used at the ends of the table, while broad bands of pink chiffon were brought from the chandelier to the corner of the table, and fastened with large bows.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white chiffon and duchesse lace, with court train, and carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses, tied with white chiffon. The maid of honor wore a gown of white point d'esprit over pink taffeta, with wide pink silk sash, and carried pink roses, tied with pink chiffon. Master Sidney, the little ring bearer, wore a white satin suit. The little girls wore gowns of white batiste, with trimmings of lace over pink silk, and carried baskets of pink roses, tied with pink chiffon. No at-home cards will be issued at present.

The United Presbyterian bazar opened yesterday most auspiciously at the Point. It was conducted in the main Exposition hall, as for several seasons past, and throughout the day and especially in the evening, was well attended. Booths prettily decorated with bunting, flowers and southern smilax were presided over by members of the United Presbyterian Women's association and their numberless aids. There was music both afternoon and evening. The women served dinner and supper in the restaurant. Hundreds of women are actively engaged in conducting the big bazar, whose proceeds go to support the three institutions maintained by the United Presbyterian Women's association, the Orphans' Home, the Memorial hospital and the Home for the Aged. The bazar will be continued again today.

Told How They Earned a Dollar.

The reception given in the chapel of the Methodist Episcopal church, Sewickley, last evening, in honor of the pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Hill, who are entering upon their seventh year with the church, was in every way a success, a large crowd being present and a most delightful evening spent. It was in charge of the Ladies' Christian union of the church, and after the reception in the earlier part of the evening the members gave their experiences in collecting a dollar each for the society. Some of the experiences were quite interesting and created much laughter.

PARTIES TO BE GIVEN CREDIT IN RETURNS

Griest Forbids Lumping of Votes That Appear in More Than One Column.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 30.—Election officers must not lump the votes for candidates whose names appear in more than one column on the ballot, in preparing the returns of next Tuesday's election to be certified to the state department. Secretary Griest has notified the county commissioners and prothonotaries that hereafter the return of the vote must be properly certified, so that each party shall receive credit for the actual votes polled.

If these instructions are obeyed by the election boards in Allegheny county, the Citizens and Democratic parties will be able to ascertain the actual number of votes cast for the Citizens-Democratic candidates in that county at the coming election.

Griest has given a hypothetical case in his instructions to the county authorities to illustrate his meaning.

"Robert E. Pattison has been nominated as the candidate of three different parties, the Democratic, anti-machine and Ballot Reform," says Mr. Griest. "If Mr. Pattison receives in the Democratic column 1,000 votes, in the anti-machine column 500 votes, and in the Ballot Reform column 250 votes, then those votes should be returned as cast under each party head, and should not be added together and returned as the total vote cast for Mr. Pattison.

"Observances of these suggestions," continues Mr. Griest, "will insure accuracy, a legal return, and will give the respective parties proper credit for the votes cast for its candidates. The intent of the ballot law is that each party should have proper credit for the votes cast for its candidates, and blanks should be prepared with proper spaces for indicating the number of votes cast for each candidate under the proper party name appearing on the official ballot, with instructions to the election officers to return the vote under the proper party heads."

THE DAY'S HAPPENINGS.

—The resignations of William Lewis, clerk, and Charles Gale, messenger in the city controller's office, which were handed in when Controller Larkin took charge, were yesterday accepted.

—Edward W. Webb, a traveling salesman from Kentucky, was sent to the Municipal hospital yesterday suffering from smallpox. Webb arrived in the city yesterday morning from Parkersburg.

—Frank Livingstone, a salesman for Reymer Bros., confectioners, was struck on the foot by a plank dropped from one of the floors of the Farmers' Deposit bank building at Fifth avenue and Wood street yesterday afternoon.

—Three new cases of smallpox were reported to the bureau of health yesterday afternoon. The patients were removed to the Municipal hospital. Three cases of scarlet fever, four of diphtheria and one of typhoid fever were also reported.

—Alexander McDonald, who says he escaped from the St. Joseph, Mo., police and surrendered himself to the police of this city, has been sent 30 days to jail until his case can be investigated. The police here believe the man is crazy from excessive drinking.

—Charles Hannah, colored, was held in $1,000 bail for court by Magistrate McKenna on a charge of feloniously cutting. Office Martin of No. 1014 Wylie avenue made the information and Ella Beale and Virginia Craig testified that he tried to cut them with a razor after assaulting the Martin woman in the stomach.

Southern Hominy Bread.

The hominy used for this bread is very fine, not the coarse, large hominy, best known in the north. Steam a cupful in double boiler for half an hour. Beat two eggs light and add to the hominy while hot; with a large tablespoonful of butter; then add half a pint of milk, half a teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of white cornmeal. Mix well. Bake half an hour. This should be baked in a shallow pan or dish with a strong heat underneath and not so much on top, in order to have the bread light. Serve with a spoon from the dish in which it is baked.

Deviled Toast.

Take entire wheat or brown bread at least a day old, cut in thin, round slices, and toast slowly a golden brown. Spread each one with butter, mixing with each teaspoonful quarter of a teaspoonful of dry mustard, quarter of a teaspoonful of paprica, a few drops of onion and a little lemon juice, sprinkle each with grated cheese and toast in a hot oven for a few minutes.

Apple Toast.

Pare, core and quarter five large apples, then cut in slices. Put two ounces butter in a saucepan; add the apples and sprinkle over them a third of a cup of sugar and two tablespoonfuls of water. Stew them quickly. Fry slices of bread, brown or white, in a little butter until a nice color, but not hard, place on a hot dish, sprinkle with sugar mixed with a little cinnamon or grated nutmeg, and spread on a layer of the apples an inch thick. Serve hot.

If you prefer the juis a little sweet add a quart of water to three quarts of grapes and heat slowly to boiling point; strain off the juice, return to kettle and again heat to boiling point and seal immediately.

LIEBIG COMPANY'S EXTRACT OF BEEF

THE MUSH ERA.

The manufacture of oatmeal was introduced into this country about 50 years ago. Cracked wheat and similar preparations followed. The whole population began eating mush. Result: Amylaceous dyspepsia, universal sour stomach, constipation, disordered livers, thin blood, weak muscles and nerves, brain fag and nervous exhaustion. The remedy lies in replacing these starchy foods with Toasted Wheat Flakes, sweetened with Malt Honey. Each appetizing flake is crisp delicate brown, thoroughly cooked and toasted. The starch of the wheat is converted into dextrine, thus making it immediately digestible and a godsend to those who cannot digest starchy foods. Toasted Wheat Flakes are ready to serve at once without further cooking and are delightfully delicious. Every package bears a picture of the Battle Creek Sanitarium. Lookout for imitations.

TCH MURDERS AMONG INDIANS

Charitable Choctaw, Who Was Wealthy and Preacher, the Slayer.

GOADED BY FIRE WATER

Condemned to Death for Killing Female Relatives, But Sentence Commuted on Recommendation of P. C. Knox.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—The President has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence pronounced upon Solomon Hotema, convicted in Texas of murder committed in the Indian territory on November 29, 1901.

In his report to the president recommending the commutation of the death sentence, Attorney General Knox says:

The petitioner, a Choctaw Indian, was convicted in the eastern district of Texas of murder committed in the Indian territory and was sentenced to be hanged. The supreme court of the United States has received the case and affirmed the judgment of the lower court.

The petitioner is well educated in his own tongue and in the English language. He has been a lawyer, a judge, a Presbyterian minister, and a man of wealth and high standing among his people. It is also shown that he was very charitable and took an active part in all public matters looking toward the education and well-being of members of his tribe, as well as of white persons who lived with them.

It is shown that for many years he had been in the habit of getting drunk, but that aside from this his life has always been exemplary.

It appears that a short time before the murder he lost by death several children in rapid succession, and, believing in witches and witchcraft, he conceived the idea that certain persons whom he believed to be witches were responsible for the death of his children and for misfortunes which had happened to other members of his tribe.

On the morning of the killing, being more or less under the influence of liquor, he started out with the expressed intention of killing certain persons whom he declared to be witches. He first went to the house of Vina Coleman, an Indiana woman, for whose murder he now stands convicted. It appears that this woman was related to him, that he had always been on most friendly terms with her, had furnished her and her family provisions and had persuaded other persons to give her work in order that she might support herself and her children.

Going to her house he accused her of being a witch and shot her to death with a shotgun, at the same time wounding a small child that was near her. At the same time he shot and badly wounded a 15-year-old boy who was running away to give the alarm.

He thereupon mounted his horse and proceeded to the home of a man whom he accused of being a witch, and shot him to death. He then proceeded to another house and killed another woman whom he accused of being a witch.

He was tried for the killing of the last two persons and acquitted on the ground of insanity. When first tried for the murder of Vina Coleman the jury disagreed. On the second trial he was convicted and the jury failing to qualify their verdict, he was sentenced to be hanged.

I am clearly of the opinion that the sentence of death should not be carried out in this case, and I am as clearly convinced that this petitioner should never be permitted to go at large.

TROOPERS SCARED.

Big Cavein Occurs Near Tents of Sixteenth at Mahanoy City.

MAHANOY CITY, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—After an idleness of 11 months, due to the flooding of the mines in December of last year, Morea colliery was enabled to resume operations today, giving employment to 1,300 men and boys.

Camp Glenn, formerly occupied by the Fourteenth regiment, has been rechristened Camp Barnes by Major McElhenny's command of the Sixteenth. They were considerably disturbed last night by the collapse of the earth near P company's mess tents. An ominous rumble accompanied the subsidence and many of the boys believed they were about to be swallowed up by an earthquake.

Names Too Much Alike.

DEACONESSES' HOME FOR THE PASSAVANT

An Unnamed Benefactor Has Given $25,000 for That Purpose.

The annual donation day for Passavant hospital by the Ladies' Aid societies of the various churches in Pittsburgh and vicinity was one of the most successful in the history of the institution. Invitations had been sent all over the western end of the state and about 1,000 visitors were present yesterday afternoon and evening.

In honor of the event the hospital had been prettily decorated with flags, and the large quantities of flowers brought by visitors added to the appearance of the rooms. Every patient received flowers. Aside from the donations there was received a considerable sum of money.

Those on the reception committee were: Mrs. Theodore Tonnell, Mrs. Eliza Passavant, Mrs. Jane Passavant, Mrs. J. A. Seaman, Mrs. Eliza Wolfe, Mrs. D. H. Geissinger, Mrs. William Reitze, Mrs. G. W. Critchlow, Mrs. A. M. Swartz, Mrs. W. Wesley Wattles, Mrs. Dr. Lange, Mrs. W. H. Moore, Mrs. William Siebert, Miss Louisa Rahn and Mrs. Harry Sellers.

The alterations in the old building commenced several months ago have been completed. Several rooms and a new kitchen have been added. The cost was $5,000.

Dr. H. W. Roth, superintendent of the hospital, announced yesterday that plans would soon be in the hands of the building committee for the erection of a deaconesses' home, to be part of the institution. The cost is to be between $20,000 and $25,000, contributed by one whose name is withheld by request.

The new building will add materially to the comfort of the nurses and attendants, who now have rather cramped living quarters in the old building, erected in 1849. The new home will be in the rear of the hospital, overlooking Center avenue. The institution owns about two acres of ground between Reed street and Center avenue. It is expected that the plans will be finished by the middle of next month.

SUBURBS NOT ELIGIBLE.

Inspector Wheaton Recommends Marine Hospital Site Within Pittsburgh City Limits.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Dr. Williams of the marine hospital service and Inspector Wheaton of the supervising architect's office, treasury department, returned this morning from Pittsburgh, where they inspected sites for the new marine hospital to be erected there.

Inspector Wheaton said he regretted that they were confined to the city limits, as the commission would have been glad to inspect all the sites offered, and might have selected one on the high ground above the city limits, but adjacent to the harbor. Under the rules of the department the report of the commission will not be made public for 30 days, in order to give objectors to the site recommended a chance to be heard.

It is anticipated that the owners of sites in Bellevue and other outside points may endeavor to have the treasury officials delay the selection of a site until congress can act on the question of increasing the limits, so that eligible sites in the suburbs can be considered.

GALUSHA A. GROW CONFIDENT.

He Says Republicans Will Carry All Districts They Are Entitled To.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Representative Galusha A. Grow of Pennsylvania, the oldest member of the house, talked with the president today about conditions in Pennsylvania.

"There will be no loss in the Republican representation in the house of representatives," said Mr. Grow to The Gazette correspondent. "The Republicans will carry all the districts they are entitled to, and they will elect the state ticket, although I do not care to predict the majority. The coal strike has made no difference in the outlook."

BRAIN FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless It Is Digested.

Nearly everyone will admit that as a nation we eat too much meat and too little of vegetables and the grains.

For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much more healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe outdoor manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule, meat once a day is sufficient for all classes of men, women and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food eaten.

But many of the most nutritious foods are difficult of digestion and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables where the digestion is too weak to assimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best results from our food that some simple and harmless digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs, and several years' experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ, but only on the food eaten. They supply what weak stomachs lack, pepsin diastase, and by stimulating the gastric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid.

People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are sure to have perfect digestion, which means perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit, as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine, morphine and similar drugs have no place in a stomach medicine and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are certainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and after a week's use note the improvement in health, appetite and nervous energy.

STOCK MARKET DULL, BUT A LITTLE FIRMER

Advance in the Call Loan Rate Did Not Check the Recovery---Revival of Activity in the Local Trust Stocks.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The course of the eastern stock market yesterday was the reverse of that of the day before. At the opening there was a slight recovery, very generally attributed to shorts covering, followed by a reaction, which was due more to the general apathy than to any news bearing upon the situation. In the afternoon the dullness increased, but the tone of the market was firmer, and even when call loans advanced to 6 per cent the strength of security values was not impaired. There were, however, long stretches during which trading was at a standstill, and the total transactions for the day reached only 384,000 shares. Dealings for London account were smaller than for several days past, and they were so evenly distributed that they had no effect upon the market. From the general course of the latter, it seemed that supporting orders had been placed in a few leading specialties, with the view to protecting them from a repetition of the drive of Wednesday afternoon, and when this became apparent, the covering of shorts was sufficient to bring about a rally later in the day. The latter may have been influenced also by reports sent out from Washington, or purporting to have originated there, to the effect that the political outlook was much brighter for the maintenance of a good Republican working majority in the house. There was some expectation that the St. Paul directors at their meeting during the afternoon would take action looking to an issue of $10,000,000 of the newly authorized stock, but just at the close it was announced that the subject had not been discussed, and the stock reacted 1½ per cent from the high point. There was some buying of Union Pacific, based upon the September report showing an increase in net earnings of $234,000, but outside interest was lacking. The strongest stocks in the entire list were the Gould issues, particularly Manhattan and Missouri Pacific, but there was no news relating to them. There is a very general feeling in the street that no movement of importance will occur in the market until after the elections.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

There was a little firmer tone to the call money market, and at one time the rate reached 6 per cent, possibly due to end-of-the-month requirements. There was no change in rates for time money. Sterling exchange was also firm and unchanged. The offerings of cotton bills were large, while grain bills were small, the advance in wheat prices checking the export movement, the clearances for the day amounting to only 368,000 bushels. So far this week the export clearance of wheat and flour are less than half the record-breaking total of last week. The Bank of England minimum rate of discount remained unchanged at 4 per cent, and the statement of the bank showed a decrease in loans and a slight increase in reserve. The statement of the Bank of France showed a decrease in gold on hand of 11,400,000 francs, an increase in notes in circulation of 81,000,000 francs, and an increase in bills discounted of 11,825,000 francs. There was some talk as to the probability of tomorrow's New York bank statement being unfavorable, the gain thus far through sub-treasury operations being only $875,000.

There was considerable irregularity in the local stock market yesterday and the activity was confined to a few specialties. American Window Glass common attracted the most attention because of the drop from 56¼ to 52½, and the subsequent recovery to 53⅜. During the two preceding days there had been no transactions in the stock and the latter appeared to be firmly held. The break yesterday occurred on the rather hasty marketing of about 500 shares, and it is demonstrated that the previous steadiness was due entirely to the absence of pressure to sell. How many other local specialties there are in the list which would break to a similar degree on forced liquidation cannot be stated, but the buying power here is certainly restricted by the firmness in the money market, and the strength of stocks is more apparent than real. River Coal common again led the list in point of activity, selling to the extent of 2,100 shares at 12 to 11¾, closing at a net loss of ⅝ for the day. The preferred stock also closed ⅝ lower at 40¾. Pittsburgh Coal common was a shade lower, while the preferred was steady and unchanged. Steel stocks were dull and fractionally lower, with the exception of United States Steel preferred, which recovered to 88¼ at the close. Westinghouse Electric declined a point to 106¼, while Air Brake was firmer, a small lot selling at 177, an advance of ½. The Brewing stocks were almost entirely neglected, and prices remained nominally unchanged until just before the close, when the common was offered at 32¾ and closed without bid. There was a little more doing in the Fire Proofing stocks, but the common, after selling at 29½, declined at the close to 29. The preferred stock declined to 86, but later recovered to 88⅜, a net loss for the day of ⅝. There was nothing doing in the Philadelphia Company stocks, and the common closed nominal at 47⅝ bid, 48⅜ asked.

The most active member of the trust company group was American Trust, which opened 4 points higher at 134, and jumped to 140½, later reacting to 137, a net gain of 7 points for the day. The rapid fluctuations in the stock suggested that the dealings were largely speculative, although there were rumors of developments which would justify the recent sharp advance in the market value of the stock. North American Savings made a new high-price record by advancing to 135, but it subsequently reacted to 130, and closed at the latter price bid. Pennsylvania Trust reacted 5 points, selling at 310. Safe Deposit and Trust was more active than for some time past, advancing to 110. A small lot of Tardiemans National bank changed hands at 187, an advance of 1 per cent over the last previous sale. There was but one transaction in bonds, Duquesne Traction 5s selling at 115½. Monongahela Light and Power 5s were offered at 106½, and closed at 102½ bid. River Coal 6s were offered at 113, while Brewing 6s were steady at 112½ bid.

The comptroller of the currency has approved of the selection of the National Park bank of New York as a reserve agent for the First National bank of Etna, Pa.

The largest individual transaction in American Trust was 200 shares at 138½. Wettengel to Hill & Co. The last sale in Fire Proofing was at 29, and bid 187 for 1,000 shares.

Fayette Gas was quoted at 80. Wheeling Natural Gas was quoted at 74 bid. This is a shade weaker, compared with the bid made while the recent deal was pending for a sale of the control at 85.

The comptroller of the currency has authorized George T. Turner of Morrisville, Pa., T. D. Sunier, C. L. Turner, J. M. Sawyer and Thomas G. Williams to organize the First National bank of Morrisville on $25,000 capital.

A Wall street special says: "The failure of the advance in money market is responsible for the fact that the Chase National notified borrowers that the rate would be 6 per cent. Borrowers paid off their loans, which caused a demand which was met by limited supply.

"Within the past few days I have met a number of prominent out-of-town people in my office," remarked a Fourth avenue man yesterday. "All of them forlornly expressed great surprise and interest in the development of this city. They are astonished at its substantial growth and impressed with the bright outlook. I believe that there is more outside capital now coming into Pittsburgh than ever before. It is seeking investment in the form of purchases of bank and trust company shares, and also in securities of local manufactories here, and there have been inquiries regarding real estate. In fact, the reputation of this city as the most profitable in the United States for investments is spreading at a remarkable rate."

The strength in American Trust was responsible for numerous guesses as to the underlying cause, but there was no definite information on the subject. The stock for inclines to accept the suggestion that a deal might be on for the absorption of the company by another bank or company, owing to the fact of the size of the American. The latter has a capital of $1,000,000, with a surplus in excess of $60,000. It is said, however, that the company has recently made a considerable increase in deposits, and that there is no likelihood of new interests entering the directory. The stock has no unusually interesting market career. Last year before the institution opened for business on the market took from 120 to 171. The management tried to discourage the speculation, but without avail. This year the stock sold as low as 112, and yesterday's price of 140½ represents a recovery of 28½ per cent.

On the Pittsburgh exchange yesterday 11214 and interest was bid for $50,000 United States steel 5s, quite a Wall street is discussing the investment qualities of these bonds. Other bonds of the corporation, which are selling "when issued," around 98, and some authorities are inclined to think them attractive at that figure, provided the buyer feels the ownership of deposits. Russell Sage recently told Schwab is on record as having made the following statement: "The present fixed charges of the Steel Company are 5 per cent on $365,287,000 bonds, and an annual sinking fund of $2,500,000, making a total charge of $20,227,850. When the proposed issue of second mortgage bonds is outstanding, the total fixed charges for interest and sinking funds will be $31,177,850, to provide which the company is earning at the rate of $140,000,000 per annum. It is earning four and a half times its charges with the new bond issue. The profits could be reduced 75 per cent and leave ample funds to pay interest and sinking funds."

During the frequent lulls of the ticker yesterday the attitude of brokers in the market was under discussion in one of the offices. Said a member of the New York stock exchange and one of the most experienced local brokers: "If a decline of an eighth or a quarter occurs in the Steel stocks, or any of the local specialties, everybody at once becomes curious to learn the cause, as if there was any special reason for the fluctuation. Sometimes people may be interested in a thousand or more shares of eastern stocks, and the latter may drop from 5 to 10 points in a day, and never leave the floor in the cause of the movement. It is either looked upon as the result of manipulation, or as 'part of the game,' but there is no grumbling. Why? I know people who have Colorado Fuel and Iron, for instance, slump 30 points, and sit down for hours, and who have confidence in getting out with a profit, and they have not winced. It is my experience that a speculator loses 10 points on an unsatisfactory deal before he closes on point or less on a deal in locals. It is a manifestation of human nature that is puzzling."

M'KEESPORT POSTOFFICE.

Business Men's Delegation Recommends a Site for It.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—A delegation of business men from McKeesport, representing the councils of that city, consisting of Messrs. Stratton, Hammett, Hood, Wampler and Abbott, called upon Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor this morning and recommended as a site for the proposed office building the property decided upon a few days ago, announcement of which was made in The Gazette at the time.

They offered the property to the government for $35,000. GRAINS OPEN WEAK, BUT STRENGTH COMES

Wheat Puzzles Traders and Speculators on Both Sides During Day.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Prices on both grains and provisions were weak at the opening today, statistics being bearish, but a better tone developed and December wheat closed unchanged. December corn ¼c higher and oats a shade lower. January provisions closed 2½c higher.
Wheat was a puzzle and the pit crowd was divided. Some early buyers turned sellers later in the day, while some who sold early were anxious to get back their holdings toward the close. The opening was easy on weak cables, larger receipts with an improvement in grading and a continuance of good weather. There was a renewal of liquidation by longs at the start, together with free selling by locals, which caused a slight decline. The market received good support, however, and the good cash demand was also an incentive to better prices. There was fair buying during the latter half of the session and the close was steady. Primary receipts were 1,630,221 bushels, against 1,108,645 bushels. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 907 cars which, with local receipts of 94 cars—74 of contract grade—made total receipts of 1,001 cars, against 1,084 cars last week and 628 cars a year ago.
Excellent weather was against corn. The volume of business was light and there was a noticeable absence of any great pressure to liquidate, although there was some realizing early in the day. December was relatively the stronger month and shorts covered freely late in the session. The close was firm. Local receipts were 133 cars, with 27 cars of contract grade.
Fine weather was a depressing influence in oats and there was again considerable selling pressure with prices slightly lower. The market rallied some with wheat and corn and the close was steady. Local receipts were 158 cars.
Provisions opened weak on weakness in hogs, but the opening loss was soon regained on a good demand from local traders. Offerings were well taken throughout the day and the close was firm.
Estimated receipts for tomorrow—Wheat, 100 cars; corn, 185 cars; oats, 225 cars; hogs, 18,000 head.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Coffee futures opened steady with prices unchanged. During the day the traders showed a little inclination toward aggressiveness, seemingly content to allow the market to take its own course. As a result of this neglect prices remained practically where last night until just before the close, when light liquidation lowered several options five points, the market closing not unchanged to five points lower and quiet. Both the cables and spot figures fell flat as to interest. Total sales amounted to 10,000 bags, including November, 8.10c; December, 8.20c; March, 8.40c; May, 8.50c; good, 8.70c, and Septembers, 8.80c. The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The market for the general run of drygoods has been quiet today. The demand for all staple lines was moderate, but with no pressure to sell prices are maintained. Print cloths continue dull but firm. Silks and ribbons are firm. Hosiery and underwear steady.

QUOTATIONS REMAIN ALMOST STATIONARY

Straw Shortage Continues. Packing Hay Is Higher. Eggs Very Scarce.

There is increased movement in packing hay and quotations are somewhat firmer, with an advance of 50 cents a ton noted. This was about the only change in hay prices made yesterday, all grades holding firm. Straw is getting scarcer and scarcer. Winter is drawing on, when owners of live stock will have to use straw, or a substitute, and of the former there is little here, and none to be obtained from this state or Ohio, from which come the usual supplies. Sections farther north and west will probably be drawn upon, after the crop beginning, or be compelled to pay higher prices. Wisconsin and Iowa can be looked to for contingents, but the freight rate is so heavy that straw cannot be brought from there for unless at a considerable advance. When liquidation for supplies was made upon that part of the country a few years ago straw sold in this market for $10 per ton, and even higher figures are looked for now, though that section would be depleted, as straw must be obtained from somewhere. New oat crop was offered yesterday as low as 50 cents each 40 cents bid.
Eggs are the feature of all features yesterday, prices all holding steady. Flour was firm, and sold well at the advance of Wednesday, but went no higher. Coffee is unchanged. There is considerable uneasiness among dealers, although there is some curiosity to learn just what will be the outcome of the situation in South America. Sugar is still selling freely and without quotable change.

Strength in Canned Corn Situation.

The canned corn situation has not lost one element of its strength, packers delivering but a part of amounts contracted for and wholesalers selling with considerable conservatism in the matter of making sales. There is an excellent demand. Tomatoes are maintaining the position held for some time, but have not yet advanced as some jobbers thought they would before this time. Peas fruits are all steady at old prices.
Trade in produce and domestic fruits is up to the average for this time of year, but is not especially active. Potatoes are moving freely, and prices are really maintained. Sweet potatoes are strong at recent advances. Cabbage is moving satisfactorily and is low in price for this season of the year. Onions command double the money they represent, quotations being held down this year by over-production. Farmers are offering cabbage for $8 per ton, while jobbers selling to consumers are charging $20 rates. Head lettuce in barrels is in good demand and prices are a shade higher. Florida egg plant is coming forward in good supply and is selling well. Celery still selling freely with prices unchanged, while cranberries are in large request and hold firmly to quotations. Grapes, pears and quinces are all as last reported.
There has been no change in prices of either butter, eggs or cheese this week, and the market for each of these articles is very firm. Supplies are no more than sufficient to maintain the old range of quotations and prevent advances, while eggs are really scarce.
Two declines have occurred in chicken price since the beginning of the week, but the feature of the cuts is very deep. Yesterday there was no change in quotations, and there is a steadier tone apparent in the market. Other poultry unchanged. Game is steady and in active request.

ANDREW HEISER PLEADED GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Killed His Aged Mother by Shoving Her Down Stairs Because She Could Not Borrow a Dime to Buy Whisky.

Andrew Heiser pleaded guilty yesterday in criminal court to involuntary manslaughter for the killing of his aged mother, Mrs. Rose Heiser. She died in the West Penn hospital May 16 from injuries received on May 4, by being shoved down stairs by her son.

Heiser was represented by Attorney W. M. McJunkin, who was appointed by Judge Stowe. The testimony showed a wretched condition in the home of the Heisers, the mother with three sons occupying one squalid room. Neighbors testified that it was common for the prisoner to abuse his mother, who was 76 years old.

At the time of the assault the defendant, it was testified, asked his mother for a dime to buy a drink. She did not have the money, and failing in her efforts to obtain it from a neighbor, she was attacked by her son and knocked to the foot of a flight of stairs, breaking her hip.

About a week ago Heiser attempted to dash his brains out on the jail bars. Sentence will be imposed on Saturday.

Charles Warner, convicted of an offense against a colored boy at Homestead, was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years by Judge Collier. George Pins was convicted of the larceny of two watches valued at $35 from Mary Gabriel.

Acquittals were: Martha Pringle, forcible entry and detainer; Frank George, misdemeanor.

Pleas of guilty were made and sentences imposed as follows: George H. Grimme, entering a building with intent to commit a felony; sentenced to Huntingdon reformatory; Calvin Thomason, carrying concealed weapons, six months to the workhouse; Frank Carter, larceny of a peddler's pack, six months to the workhouse; A. R. Cole, larceny of a satchel and coat, nine months to the workhouse.

ASK ELECTION DAY SESSION OF COURT

Petition to Supreme Judges Requests Philadelphia Court to Convene for Voters' Protection.

In the supreme court yesterday, in this city, a petition was presented by ex-Judge Samuel G. Thompson of Philadelphia, asking that the court direct the court of quarter sessions of Philadelphia county to hold a session on election day. No order was made yesterday.

The petition sets forth that, as a reasonable precaution to secure for the electors of Philadelphia adequate protection, and for the purpose of safeguarding the purity of the election, a petition was presented to the court of quarter sessions for the holding of court on election day, but no order was made.

The petitioners say that the presence of a judge will help to guard electors and officers, overseers and party watchers against transgressions and that under the law election officers are privileged from arrest under certain conditions, except on a warrant of a court of record. It is set forth that arrests have been frequently made on election day of persons who have undertaken to challenge illegal voters, and that these challengers have been deprived of their liberty without an opportunity to obtain a writ of habeas corpus, thereby preventing them from exercising their rights as citizens. It is stated further, that it is important to have a prompt enforcement of the decree of court having jurisdiction in the appointment of inspectors and overseers; also that from past experience there is grave reason to expect that there will be breaches of the peace and arrests made at the approaching election.

ASKS AN ACCOUNTING.

Ellen McCrum, Alleging Partners Are Unfair, Wants a Dissolution.

A bill of equity has been entered by Ellen McCrum against I. N. De Noon, J. C. De Noon and J. H. McCrum, trustee for the plaintiff. The plaintiff alleges that J. H. McCrum, acting in her behalf, entered into a partnership with the De Noons, forming the De Noon Bros. Paint & Glass Company, McCrum contributing $4,850, and the De Noons $5,000 each. J. H. McCrum personally took part in the management of the business. The plaintiff avers she has endeavored to obtain information in relation to the partnership and the value of her interest, but defendants have refused to allow her to examine the accounts.

She alleges that the De Noons have acted unfairly and are hostile to her interests, and she asks that the partnership be dissolved and an account be rendered.

ST. MARY'S TO CELEBRATE.

Fiftieth Anniversary Is to Be Fittingly Observed.

The congregation of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church of Sharpsburg is making preparations for the celebration of the 50th anniversary on December 7. About $2,000 is being raised for the celebration, which is expected to outclass anything of the kind ever held by this church.

The church has been repaired and many new stained glass windows placed. The Rev. Father Charles Greenawalt of Detroit will be one of the guests of honor. The services will open with solemn high mass on Sunday, December 7, and continue until the evening of December 9. The Redemptorist Fathers, who founded the church, will conduct a mission.

SHOOTING WAS ACCIDENTAL.

Coroner's Jury Renders Verdict in the Death of Benjamin Earnest.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The mystery surrounding the death of Benjamin Earnest, who was shot on the Loucks farm yesterday, was cleared up at the coroner's inquest this morning.

The verdict by the coroner's jury placed the responsibility for young Earnest's death upon Lyman Loucks, the 16-year-old son of David Loucks, upon whose premises the shooting took place. Lyman Loucks admitted that he fired three shots but claimed he did so to scare away some boys who were in the field near the barn stealing corn. The verdict of the jury was based on the evidence of young Loucks himself. Loucks was released on bail.

Gold Cabinet Rich and Chaste

The effect of richness and elegance, which is very properly sought after in the parlor furnishment, is greatly helped by the judicious use of such a rich piece of furniture as is shown in the above picture. Great care must be used in the selection, however, to avoid the suggestion of vulgar display.

An article of furniture which is so daringly obvious must be sufficiently beautiful and artistic to repay the attention which it calls upon itself. If it be commonplace or faulty in design its rich dress makes these the more conspicuous.

This Cabinet will be found in every way satisfying, even to the critical eye of the most fastidious.

Specifications: Gold Cabinet, 34 inches wide, 5 feet 8 inches high, plate glass shelves; mirror back; hand painted decorations; best gilt trimmings.

One can get so many helpful ideas by studying the parlor furniture in this store and the prices are so attractive that people who give thought to the furnishing of their homes prefer to come to

Pennsy Announces Plans for Service on the Old Short Line

General Passenger Agent E. A. Ford of the Pennsylvania lines, gave official notice yesterday to the general passenger and ticket agents of connecting lines of the purchase of that portion of the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking railroad lying between Columbus and Sandusky, 110 miles, to be operated from tomorrow, in connection with the Toledo division of the Pennsylvania company.

The notice says: "It is intended to form a line with through cars, between Columbus and Toledo, via Carrothers, as well as to keep open the through line between Columbus and Sandusky and at the proper time further information will be given and request will be made for new and additional ticket representation."

The old tickets reading "via Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking railroad" will be honored for the present. The new forms will read simply "via Pennsylvania line."

The acquisition of the Zanesville & Western by the Hocking Valley is part of the plan of dividing up the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking. Circulars were issued by General Superintendent M. S. Connors of the Hocking Valley yesterday, making the operating appointments incidental to the change. J. F. Angell, superintendent of the Ohio Central, is made superintendent of the Zanesville & Western. Trainmaster P. E. Spears will succeed Mr. Angell on the Ohio Central. Trainmaster Connors of the Kanawha & Michigan, succeeds Mr. Spears. Dispatcher Franey of Bucyrus, O., takes the position vacated on the Kanawha & Michigan.

On the same date with the rest of the changes, C. F. Mayer will become assistant general freight agent of the Zanesville & Western, with headquarters at Columbus.

All is in readiness for the transfer of the road at midnight tonight. The Hocking Valley and the Pennsylvania have prepared their portions of the divided line for entry into the new ownership.

PENNSY MAY BE IN IT.

Pere Marquette to Become a New Lake Coal Line.

Much interest is taken by Pittsburgh railroad men in the settlement of the ownership of the Pere Marquette and the Lake Erie & Detroit River railroads. Developments of the last three days include a statement by F. H. Walker, one of the owners of the latter line, that the Pere Marquette has acquired part of the stock of the Lake Erie & Detroit River road.

It has been understood for some time that the Pennsylvania is interested in the sale of the Pere Marquette and that it means to invade the territory now occupied by the Wabash and the Grand Trunk north of Lake Erie in Canada, between Detroit and Buffalo. A new line for the Pere Marquette is to be built by the Lake Erie & Detroit River, from St. Thomas to Buffalo, the surveys for which are being made. The road will furnish the Pennsylvania a new route for coal to the northwest, via the lakes.

Funeral of P. S. Blodgett.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—The funeral services of P. S. Blodgett, late general manager of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway, took place this afternoon in Calvary Presbyterian church. The sermon was preached by Dean Williams of the Trinity Episcopal Cathedral. Many prominent railway officials were included in the list of active and honorary pall bearers. The body was placed temporarily in a vault at Lakeview cemetery.

Some Official Changes.

Joseph Davis, general foreman of the Altoona shops of the Pennsylvania, has been promoted to master mechanic of the Harrisburg shops. W. B. Norman, now general foreman at the West Philadelphia shops, will succeed Mr. Davis at Altoona. James Corbett succeeds C. C. Reynolds, resigned, as superintendent of the Chicago and Erie division of the Erie. T. H. Pindell, who is now superintendent of the New Jersey divisions of the Erie, will succeed Mr. Corbett as superintendent of the Susquehanna and Tioga divisions. J. E. Tucker, superintendent of the Rochester division, succeeds Mr. Pindell, and E. T. Rosher of Rochester succeeds Mr. Tucker.

Herbert K. Mudd has resigned the position of master mechanic of the Wabash at Decatur, Ill., to become master of motive power and machinery of the Cincinnati, Richmond & Muncie road. This is the new line building from Cincinnati to Chicago, of which 176 miles are now in operation.

RAILROADS ARE ON GUARD.

Every Survey Made by One Line Soon Known to Its Rivals.

The careful watching of rivals' plans by the railroads in this territory, which was so pronounced a year or more ago, has again become marked. Every move of the Wabash or of the Jones & Laughlin interests in the way of surveys is known almost as soon to the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore & Ohio engineers as to the chief engineers of the roads having the surveys made.

The prospect for the Erie entering Pittsburgh through connections with the Monongahela Connecting railroad has caused much investigation of surveys. Every party of surveyors in the country around Pittsburgh is under surveillance.

Railroad Notes.

E. C. Lapey, general passenger agent of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, was a Pittsburgh visitor yesterday.

S. A. Brown has been appointed agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie at McKees Rocks, to succeed H. E. Oxley, promoted, to traveling agent.

F. E. Shellabarger, district passenger agent of the Santa Fe, announces that the daily California Limited service will be resumed November 16 with new equipment throughout. The new Rock Island service between Chicago and California will start Monday next.

Henry G. Davis, formerly one of the principal owners of the West Virginia Central railroad, says the management had plans for building larger shops at Elkins before the Wabash bought the road, and that he is eager to have the Wabash carry out those plans.
